RANDALL TO SPONSOR CODE LAW

OPPOSED TO REPEAL

Senator Randall in Opening Gubernatorial Campaign Says He Favors Retention of Civil Administrative Act.

LITTLE CHANCE OF REDUCTION IN TAXES

People Must Look to County and Other Local Subdivisions of Government if Expenditures Are Cut.

State Senator C. H. Randall, republican primary candidate for governor of Nebraska, gave out a statement Friday from his Lincoln headquarters in which he champions the code law and declares that, while he favors a reduction of state expenditures, no substantial lowering of taxes can be expected from that source.

Mr. Randall says that only one-fifth of the taxes raised for all purposes are paid to the state, and that if the people desire relief from burdensome taxation they must get it from the counties and the local governmental subdivisions.

He says that he expects to stand on the party platform to be adopted by the republican state convention next August, and will therefore wait for the pronouncement by that body before outlining a state program. Mr. Randall will make a personal campaign tour of the state between now and the time of the primaries, July 18.

May Undermine McMullen.

The attitude taken by Randall as a defender of the code system may result in depriving Adam McMullen of some of the support he was supposed to get from the state administration when he gigged back on his former opposition to the code and came out with a semi-endorsement of H. Phil Bross is understood to be boosting for Randall now, and others of Governor McKelvie's official family may follow his example.

A. H. Byrum is making his campaign for governor as a frank and outspoken critic of the code regime. He advocates eliminating several of the $5,000 secretaries and transferring their duties back to the elective constitutional officers.

Mr. Randall's statement giving his position as a candidate for governor is as follows:

"Reduction of taxes is a chief topic of discussion wherever I go. Beyond a question economies can and will be effected in the operation of the state government. Conditions demand the elimination of every extra expense. The state's business should be carried on with the same regard for efficiency and economy of administration as the affairs of any other business organization.

"It is well known that the state takes less than one-fifth of every dollar paid over the counter of the county treasurer. We are forcibly reminded that the cure for the tax burden to a large extent is at home, in the counties, towns and school districts. I favor a program of economy, but I do not think observing people will be fooled into believing that a governor or a legislature can cure an evil, the remedy for which lies principally in the hands of the people in their own local government.

Stands Behind the Code Law.

"If the code bill is to be an issue, my attitude on that is clear enough. I helped frame the code bill and was a member of the committee in the last session which investigated its working out. I think it is a form of state government much misunderstood and considerably misrepresented, but it is very effective for the efficient and economical administration of state affairs. It will grow upon people as they better understand it and observe its working. Our form of it can be improved, but the principle is sound. It will be adopted by other states.

"On other questions which are considered of current political or economic importance, I cite my legislative record of four years. I am perfectly agreeable to having my past justified or condemned and my future prophesied by that record."

Wreckage of Airplane Crash at David City Which Cost Lives of Aviator Green and His Mechanic

This picture shows the wreckage of the airplane, which fell 1,700 feet at David City early in the week, costing the lives of Aviator Paul Green and his mechanic, Arthur Graves of Omaha.

The inset is of Aviator Green. Green was flying in his own plane, a Curtiss make taking views of David City when the accident occurred. A wing separated from the plane and the machine shot 1,700 feet to earth, instantly killing both men.

The aviator was almost killed in an accident at the aero meet at Red Oak, Ia., on June 25, 1921.

Green would have been 35 years of age on May 5. He enlisted in the aviation services shortly before the armistice was signed and completed his training in a government camp. He is survived by a wife and a 2-year-old son. Mr. Green was a son of Charles Green of David City. He was a member of the Masonic lodge.

Mechanic Groves lived in Omaha and is survived by a wife. His parents live in Stromsburg.

ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE

W. D. Harold, Traveling Man for St. Joe Firm, Found at Fair Grounds With Wrists and Throat Slashed —Will Recover.

W. D. Harold, 45, traveling man for a St. Joseph firm, was found in a serious condition at the state fair grounds early Friday morning, with both wrists and his throat slashed, according to the police. Harold is now in St. Elizabeth's hospital. No cause for the act is known.

It is believed that he suffered a nervous breakdown. At noon Friday attendants at the hospital said Harold would recover.

Friends of the man say he had become mentally deranged from worry over fear that an attempt was being made to take his daughter, Tylen, 14, away from him. The girl is in St. Joseph. Mrs. Harold died about three years ago.

Harold had not been seen since Thursday noon, at which time he had made arrangements to make a business trip out in the state.

Officers Longstreth and Rymer found Harold at 5:15 a. m. after a woman had notified the police that a man was acting queerly at the fair grounds.

"I think that he will recover," said Dr. W. H. Slattery, who attended the injured man. "He went into the neck deep enough, but fortunately in the wrong location. He also cut both of his wrists but did not strike the radial arteries, missing both of them by a hair's breadth."

According to Dr. Slattery, Harold is weak from loss of blood.

"Mr. Harold told me that he used a knife, but police were unable to find one," Dr. Slattery said. "It appears to me that the man committed the act late Thursday afternoon and then lay somewhere bleeding until he was found. He admitted that he first cut his throat and then seeing that the job was a poor one sought to finish by cutting his wrists."

Dwiggins' Fate in Jury's Hands for Second Time

The jury in the second trial in district court here of Dr. Frank P. Dwiggins, former president of the American State bank of Lincoln, now defunct, charged with having aided and abetted in borrowing $30,611 from the bank in September, 1919, retired for deliberation about 10:30 o'clock Friday morning and had not returned a verdict up to 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Dr. Dwiggins was tried on the same charge a month ago and the jury failed to agree upon a verdict after deliberating twenty-five hours.

John W. Tulleys, David D. Clark and Albert S. Sandlovich, former vice president, cashier and director, respectively, of the American State bank, are included in the same indictment with Dwiggins. Each has been granted separate trials.

TO USE FUEL OIL INSTEAD OF COAL AT WATER PLANT

Burners Installed Under One Boiler and to Be Used Under Another.

Schroeder Says Will Reduce Coal Consumption From 40 to 18 Tons a Day.

With the coal pile at the municipal water plant rapidly decreasing in size, and only an occasional carload to be had, oil burning apparatus has been installed under one of the boilers and will be installed under another one immediately, City Commissioner William Schroeder said Friday.

Mr. Schroeder estimated that with oil burners under two boilers, one of them of 500 horsepower capacity, he will be able to reduce the amount of coal used daily from approximately forty tons to about eighteen tons.

Little Coal Available.

Two weeks ago, Mr. Schroeder said there was a supply of coal on hand sufficient to operate the water plant at usual capacity about twenty five or thirty days. Since then he has picked up six of eight carloads of coal of any quality he could get. Ordinarily, approximately a carload, or about forty tons of coal is used daily.

There has been no increase in the price of fuel oil yet, Mr. Schroeder said, and he does not anticipate any great increase unless the miners' strike lasts until late next fall or next winter.

The Lincoln Traction company has been burning fuel oil at its power plant for several weeks.

NEBRASKAN BACK FROM LONG TRIP

Harold Long, Son of Lincoln Pastor Returns From Mediterranean Tour.

Saw Uprising in Egypt and Visited Palestine Battlefields.

Harold Long, son of Rev. B. M. Long, has returned to Lincoln from a three months' tour of the Mediterranean. He stopped over a few hours last Saturday on his way to his church in Panama, Neb., but returned at the first of the week for a longer visit. Mr. Long spent most of his time in Egypt and the Holy Land. He was in Egypt during the student uprisings and saw the soldiers fighting back great mobs of people. But the demonstration was mostly noise, with very little real shooting, as he saw it.

In Palestine he found the effects of the war still very marked. The battlefields were left untouched as they had been just after the fighting ceased. He found a good deal of political excitement and unrest in Constantinople, in which city he was admitted to the royal enclosure to see the sultan, an unusual experience for a foreigner.

Mr. Long returned by way of France, where he visited the battlefields of the war. He returns to Panama, Neb., Saturday.

Mrs. Lobingier was the mother of Judge Charles S. Lobingier, formerly of Lincoln and of Omaha, who is judge of the United States court of China. Rev. and Mrs. Lobingier were member of the First Christian church of Lincoln, he having been one of the pioneer Christian ministers of Nebraska. The remains of Mrs. Lobingier have been cremated and her ashes will be buried in Wyuka cemetery by the side of her husband's grave. She was eighty-five years of age.

WARFARE IS ENDED

Armistice Is Signed at Washington by the Interstate Commerce Commission and Various State Rail Boards.

JOINT ACTION TO BE FUTURE POLICY

Order Tying Hands of Nebraska Commission Will Be Cancelled as Soon as Recent Decree on Freight Rates Is Modified.

Joint action by the interstate commerce commission and the various state railway commissions in matters where their respective jurisdictions might otherwise conflict is provided for in an agreement drafted at Washington during the past week and approved by committees representing both sides.

Chairman Taylor of the Nebraska commission who is back from the meeting, brought with him a copy of the agreement. While at Washington he also interviewed members of the federal commission in regard to canceling its "discrimination order" issued in May 1921 that resulted in tying the hands of the state commissions in Nebraska and other states. This will be done as soon as the Nebraska commission modifies its recent order so as to declare all existing freight rates lawful in this state.

Provisions of Agreement.

Some of the main points of the armistice signed up at Washington, specifying the procedure which will be followed, are:

1. Where complaints allege discrimination against interstate commerce, a conference to be called on the request of either the federal or the state body, and the latter to be represented on the sitting tribunal if the matter goes to trial.

2. Joint conferences to be held on complaints attacking interstate or intrastate rates, where their mutual relationships are affected.

3. Joint hearings may be arranged where similar issues are pending before state and interstate commissions.

4. State commissions to be barred from joint sittings where they appear as advocates on behalf of the public or any party in interest.

5. An interstate commerce commissioner to preside and rules of the federal body to govern in any joint hearing where interstate rates are directly involved. In other matters, a senior state commissioner or an examiner for the interstate commission to preside.

6. Conferences to be held on general matters with a view to harmonizing rates and practices in neighboring states.

7. State commissions to keep federal commission advised on all matters in which it may be interested.

8. Conferences on car service, distribution and administration also provided for.

TAKES SUSPECT TO VALENTINE

Sheriff O'Rourke Says Nencoff to Face Charge of Murder.

Prisoner Stoutly Maintains Does Not Know Who Killed Gillis.

George Nencoff alleged murder suspect in the case of Jack Gillis found shot to death in a canyon near Valentine, Neb., last Sunday, was taken back to Valentine Friday morning by Sheriff J. W. O'Rourke of Cherry county, who with Deputy State Sheriff Karl Schmitt trailed Nencoff to Cedar Rapids, Ia., and arrested him there.

Although Nencoff still maintains his innocence and sticks to the first story he told the officers, Nencoff will nevertheless face a charge of first degree murder in the Valentine district court, Sheriff O'Rourke declared.

According to Valentine authorities, several parties from Ohio are on the way to Nebraska to view the body of the murdered man to ascertain positively whether or not it is the Jack Gillis from Warren, O. Fingerprints of the dead man have been taken.

Hammond Quits Editorial Chair

A newspaper change in Nebraska which will be of interest throughout the state is the retirement of Frank Hammond as editor of the Fremont Tribune, which has just taken place. Mr. Hammond retains his interest in the paper as a stockholder and officer of the company, but will devote his time to other business. He has been editor of the paper since Ross L. Hammond removed to California two or three years ago. The two Hammond brothers were associated together in the newspaper business at Fremont for thirty-five years or more.

MANY CASES ON FEDERAL COURT DOCKET FOR MAY

Oregon Man's $25,000 Alienation Suit Listed for Trial.

Goodrich Asks for Jury in Bankruptcy Proceeding Against Himself.

Several important cases are coming to trial during the May term of the federal court. Included in the list is the $25,000 alienation of affection suit brought by Robert K. Lord, of Portland, Ore., against Mrs. Della Moore, 1105 Peach street, Lincoln. Lord charges that Mrs. Moore lured his wife away from him by promises of a higher education, lavish expenditure of money and foreign traveling. Mrs. Moore denies the charge. Lord is represented by former United States Attorney Tom S. Allen.

Another case that will command wide attention is the case of Leonard W. Goodrich of Fairbury, former wealthy banker, now alleged bankrupt, whom several creditors are suing to force him into bankruptcy, and who demands a trial by jury on the petition of the creditors.

Other cases are: Shea and Donnelly company vs. George R. Unthank, money for damage on contract; Lincoln Traction company against the Nebraska State Railway commission, an injunction proceeding; Lincoln Gas and Electric Light company against the city of Lincoln, on an injunction. Both of the latter cases have been pending in courts several years.

It is expected that the federal grand jury will result in additional cases. Judge Munger Thursday evening fixed 10 a. m. June 12, as the date for the federal petit jurors to report for duty.

Jury Returns a Verdict in Favor of Walter Bauer

The jury in the district court trial of Mrs. Cora Muck's $10,000 damage suit against her son-in-law, Walter A. Bauer, returned a verdict late Thursday afternoon in favor of young Bauer. Mrs. Muck alleged Bauer had assaulted her in her home, February 1. She declared she had received serious injuries when she either fell or her son-in-law pushed her down a long flight of stairs during a struggle.

Bauer obtained a divorce decree from Mrs. Muck's daughter, Thelma, a few weeks ago. Mrs. Bauer was not permitted to testify against her husband. She brought suit for divorce and he filed a cross-petition. It was while Mrs. Bauer's divorce action was pending that Bauer went to the place where his wife and mother-in-law were living to get some personal belongings of his, he said. The Bauers were living apart at the time of the alleged assault.

Mrs. Muck testified that Bauer took a package and a struggle ensued when he refused to give it to her or tell her what the package contained. The evidence disclosed that it was a package of Mrs. Bauer's letters.

Must Have Phone Booths in Depots

To satisfy a complaint brought by citizens of Imperial, Palisade and Wauneta, who claimed that telegrams delivered by them to Burlington railroad operators were publicly transmitted by telephone to Culbertson before being put on the telegraph wire, the state railway commission has ordered the railroad company to install telephone booths and use them for sending all private commercial messages.

The complaining patrons asked to have telegraph service furnished at each town, but the commission finds this would cost about $2,500 additional, requiring an extra wire from Culbertson.

Invents Finger Print System to Use in Banks

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., May 5.—A finger print system for use in banks, insurance establishments and all other paces where personal identification is necessary, has been devised by a life termer at the state prison here and is being studied by experts throughout the country. The system calls for but a single print and greatly simplifies the present finger print processes employed by police departments, it is said.

The prisoner's plan has been approved by Chief of Police August Vollmer of Berkeley, an outstanding finger print expert. Patents have been applied for in Canada, England, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

The prisoner worked for fifteen months on the new system before perfecting it.

WILL NOT ASSESS FRANCHISE VALUE

Osborne Says Equalization Board to Accept Bell Company's Contention.

Other Telephone Firms to Be Included in the Ruling.

In all probability the Northwestern Bell Telephone company and other telephone companies operating in Nebraska will be assessed for 1922 without including any element of franchise value in their properties. State Tax Commissioner Osborne thinks the state board of equalization will accept the Bell company's contention that it has no franchise value, and will apply the same rule to other corporations in the same line of business.

The franchise value is a theoretical item covering the increased value of an investment by reason of the fact that it is more or less of a monopoly in its line.

Under the old revenue law, the state board of equalization was authorized to consider franchise value with other elements in a general way when it fixed the assessment of large corporations. The new law requires the board to fix the franchise value as a separate and distinct item, which may then be attacked in the courts by any concern, which disputes the board's judgment.

Mr. Schissler was joined here by Mrs. Schissler's brother, E. M. Belcher, of Lincoln. Mrs. Schissler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Belcher, are in Los Angeles, Cal. The funeral services in Hastings probably will not be held until Monday, pending the arrival of relatives.

Highlander Case Is Argued Before Supreme Tribunal

Whether so-called "pioneer certificates" carrying old age endowment benefits to members of the Royal Highlanders order who joined it twenty-eight years ago are still valid, or the members holding them are subject to the increased scale of rates now in effect, was argued to the Nebraska supreme court Friday in the Kennedy and Henthorn cases from Hamilton county.

Miles Dawson of New York and E. J. Hainer of Lincoln presented the views of the society's administrative officers, supporting its right to collect the higher rates. The certificate holders at Aurora were represented by J. J. Thomas and Edwin Vail of Seward.

TO SPLIT THE BIDS

Capitol Commission Will Ask Contractors to Submit Estimates Separately on Different Parts of Construction Work.

NO GENERAL CONTRACT FOR ENTIRE BUILDING

One Bidder May Get More Than One Part of Work, Depending on His Figures and the Material Designated.

Instead of calling for bids on the new state capitol superstructure as a whole, the capitol commission and its New York architect have split up the construction work into twenty-five parts, on which bidders will be invited to submit propositions either separately or by groups.

It has been customary in the past when state buildings were erected to let one general contract for construction to include everything except plumbing, heating, and electric wiring, which were covered by special contracts. But the capitol commission will follow a new plan by asking for bids on each kind of detailed work by itself, or in combination with other designated items.

In awarding the contracts, one bidder may get half a dozen or more parts of the work, depending on his figures and the kinds of material specified in his proposition.

Besides the construction bids, the capitol commission will secure guaranteed prices from rock quarrying concerns to insure a continuous supply of whatever material is chosen, for the completion of the building, without any increase in prices. The contracts to be let in June will cover only the outer part of the new edifice. Those for the interior section and the tower will be awarded in 1923.

List of Items.

Herewith is a list of the various items on which separate specifications will be furnished to bidders for the June letting:

1—Mason work.
2—Concrete arches and fireproofing.
3—Cement and granolithic floors.
4—Gypsum roof slab.
5—Cut stone work.
6—Structural steel.
7—Light and ornamental iron.

State Buys More Desks—The code department of public welfare has just purchased two more polished oak office desks, costing $60.80 apiece, for the state bureau of health. Desks and tables are now crowded into that office so thickly that the employes have trouble in getting around. Vital statistics records are accumulating at such a rate that the bureau will be badly in need of more room before the new capitol is completed.

Two Horses Gone.—A. B. Zook reported to the sheriff's office Friday morning that a team of horses belonging to him was missing from a pasture at Forty-eighth and Van Dorn streets. The horses were put in the pasture Tuesday evening and they were gone the next morning. One horse was a black and the other bay, weighing between 1,200 and 1,500 pounds.

No Hail Insurance Losses—In the whole month of April, and so far in May, the state hail insurance division has not received a single claim for loss of grain crops due to hail. A year ago there were several such claims in April from Nuckolls and Brown counties. This year the growing season started late, and wheat and rye were not far enough along in April to be seriously damaged by hail, even if it had fallen.

Tranfers Balances.—United States Judge T. C. Munger Friday morning ordered a number of unclaimed balances remaining from cases in federal court, and totalling $9.70 to be transferred to the registry fund of the federal court, following the deposition of R. C. Hoyt, clerk of the court, that the amounts had been unclaimed for five years, and that he was in doubt as to whom to pay them. The amounts were ninety cents deposited by the plaintiff's attorneys in the case of George Warren Smith vs. John Marman; twenty-five cents in the case of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company vs. Thomas Holmes, et al., deposited by J. H. Broady, attorney for the deceased; $1.60 deposited by W. W. Fields, attorney, deceased, in the case of The Germania Publishing company vs. the Press Publishing company; $6.95 deposited by E. F. Pettis, attorney for defendant, deceased, in the case of Oliver W. Everett vs. The Western Life Insurance company.

DECLARES SOCIAL UNREST CAUSE OF INDIA'S TROUBLE

Blue Says Political Revolution Not as Serious as Has Been Pictured.

Missionary of Seventh Day Adventist Church Here on a Furlough.

"The real revolution in India is a social, not a political revolution," is the opinion of Rev. I. F. Blue, missionary to India of the Seventh Day Adventist denomination, now returned on furlough and visiting Union College, College View, of which he is a graduate. "It is a revolution against social conditions, against caste, against the age-old ways of thinking and believing and workink. This is the important thing. There is plenty of political unrest and of feeling against England, to be sure; but not so much as people on this side of the water have been led to believe."

Mr. Blue's headquarters are in Lucknow, a city of 200,000 famous in the Indian mutiny. Here he is pastor of a church; but besides this he is superintendent of the thirty-eight schools of the denomination in all parts of India, in which are 1,500 pupils. His work has taken him from one end to the other of India and Burmah. He has been eight years in India without returning home until now. He arrived in New York this April and is now on his way from Tekamah, Nebraska, where his parents live to the national conference of the Seventh Day Adventist churches in San Francisco. He is accompanied by Mrs Blue and their little daughter Margaret, two and a half years old, born at Lucknow, who has never seen the United States before. The Blues will spend a year in this country before returning to their field.

Never was India so open to Christianity as at the present, declares Mr. Blue. The rapid changes in Hindu life, the war in which many Indian troops took part, the break-down of many of the old institutions and ways of thinking have created a situation in which new ideas are peculiarly welcome. Mr. Blue is enthusiastic in his praises of the Hindu people, of their cordiality, kindheartedness, and generosity.

A Gulf Coast to Canada Route Is Being Considered

(Special to The Star.)

STRATTON, Neb., May 5.—The Kansas-Nebraska highway that was launched at Stratton a few weeks ago now gives promise of growing beyond its original name. A convention to complete the organization of the Memorial highway was held at Scott City, Kansas, Wednesday May 3. About 100 delegates from Nebraska, Kansas and Texas were in attendance, among those present being Wade R. Martin president and Joy E. Rute, secretary-treasurer, both of Stratton and Dr. Smith chairman of logging and complaints committee, Big Springs, Neb. All delegates present were enthusiastic over the prospects and it was the unanimous opinion that the highway should be extended from the Canadian line to the Gulf coast, properly laid out and marked as a memorial to soldiers of past wars, who as representatives of the communities along the route paid the supreme sacrifice in the defense of their country.

Opening Day for Ice Cream Works

(Special to The Star.)

ST. PERIOR, Neb., May 5.—Thursday was opening day for the Dodds ice cream factory and a steady stream of people made their way there all day long. All who cared to be shown through the plant were shown the process of ice making and ice cream manufacture. The pure sweet cream is used after pasteurizing, and the latest known process is employed in turning out the finished product ready for use. The Dodds company is better equipped than ever to handle their large business this year, as a number of important improvements have been made in the factory.

Father of Waters Continues to Flow Through Crevasses

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 5.—Waters from the Mississippi river and its swollen tributaries continued to spread over vast sections today, further increasing the number of refugees in the flooded areas. A case of typhoid fever in the large refugee camp at Harrisonburg, La., complicated matters there and physicians today were inoculating every person in the two colonies against the disease.

Relief efforts also were underway today at Pointe A La Hache, south of New Orleans, which was reached yesterday by water from the Poydras crevasse. About 800 refugees are being cared for in a Red Cross camp at Jackson barracks here.

A large crevasse near Ferriday also was occupying relief workers today and reports from Concordia parish to the state commissioner of agriculture, said 200,000 acres of growing cotton had been destroyed there with a loss estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Mixed Commission to Settle Claims as Result of War

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Negotiations are under way between the United States and Germany, it was said in official circles today, looking to the organization of a mixed claims commission which will pass upon claims filed with the United States government by American citizens as a result of the sinking of the Lusitania.

The commission probably will consist of three members—one American, one German and a neutral. Completion of a treaty providing for the commission will be followed by reference of the document to the senate for approval, it was said today, and by passage of enabling legislation. It was not expected that the treaty would be sent to the senate during the present session, however.

HISTORY TEACHERS HOLD CONVENTION

Professor Schlesinger of Iowa to Give Principal Address.

Principal Shepherd and Miss Margaret Davis on Program.

The history teachers of the state at their annual meeting in Lincoln May 5, and 6, offer a program that will interest everyone who follows the development of national questions.

The principal address of the session will be given Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the social science hall, at the state university on "New View points in American History," by A. M. Schlesinger of Iowa state university. Professor Schlesinger's book on this subject is just now being published and the Lincoln gathering will have the benefit of hearing the author's own exposition of the principles on which it is based. He speaks in an interesting and entertaining manner, which appeals to the general public as much as to professional teachers.

The program for Saturay morning includes papers by Principal H. P. Shepherd and Miss Margaret Davis of the Lincoln high school. Both meetings are open to the public.

Conan Doyle Likens Psychic Researchers to Sherlock Holmes

NEW YORK, May 5.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle last night likened those who practice psychic research to his own creation, the indefatigable Sherlock Holmes, when he and Lady Doyle attended the opening of the American psychical institute and laboratory.

"The manner in which psychic research workers go after the negative instead of the positive, is scandalous," he said in the course of an informal address. "They are like private detectives, who, if they find anything wrong, always go after it."

He deplored what he termed the over-willingness of psychic researchers to regard spiritualists as swindlers.

"For that matter," he went on, "most people think spiritualism a swindle, but results are obtained three out of five times."

He knew this, he said, from personal experience having had numerous manifestations and predicted that a revelation will prove it within the next five years."

Resume Work of Selecting Jury for Small Trial

COURTHOUSE, WAUKEGAN, Ill., May 5.—Examination of prospective talesmen to obtain the lone juror needed to complete the panel to try Governor Len Small on charges of conspiracy to embezzle state funds was resumed when court opened today. It was expected that the jury would be completed today but indications were that adjournment would be taken and actual taking of testimony would not begin before next Monday.

The flurry that resulted from reports of jury tampering yesterday afternoon had died down today. Judge Claire C. Edwards and attorneys for opposing sides refused to discuss the series of conferences that gave rise to reports that an investigation of alleged jury tampering was under way.

"The matter has been dropped," Judge Edwards said. "It was nothing about which the public is interested."

4-Year-Old Boy Shot and Killed by Another Lad

CINCINNATI, May 5.—Richard Abraham, 4, son of George F. Abraham of the Cincinnati Ice & Cold storage company was shot and killed yesterday. The police are looking for Robert Lutkehaus, 10, who lives near the Abraham residence. The mother of the dead child, said that her son, George 9, who witnessed the shooting, told her that his brother was shot because he refused to help the Lutkehaus boy clean the Lutkehaus apartment.

DIE FROM EATING WILD PARSNIPS

Seven Members of Family Mistake Poison Weed for Species of Celery.

(International News Service.)

L'ORIGINAL, Ont., May 5.—Seven members of a family of nine died here today in horrible agony from eating wild parsnips in the belief that they were a species of celery.

Napoleon Le Croix brought the parsnips home after discovering them in the woods. His wife cooked them and the pair were dead fifteen minutes later.

Le Croix's father, a man of 70, had eaten only a teaspoonful and he lived for two hours, witnessing the agonizing sight of his son, daughter-in-law and grand children staggering to their deaths and writhing in pain on the ground.

Neighbors who saw Mrs. Le Croix stagger into the yard summoned a doctor. Two children followed. Then the father, trying to help them, became frantic with pain and death soon ended his agony.

The wife died at almost the same time.

The doctor, arriving, found that the two children had stumbled several hundred feet along the road, then collapsed. They were taken into a store and died.

Two other children, Marie and Hector, were found by the physician writhing on the floor of the home in death agony. Joseph Le Croix, the grandfather, lingered, fighting the poison for two hours.

The baby of the family did not partake of the dish, but another child, slightly older, did and is in a precarious condition.

Rail Men Making Fight on Present Organization Head

DALAS (Tex., May 5.—Politics began to shape themselves yesterday at the convention of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship clerks, freight handlers express and station employes of the United States and Canda.

Two names were mentioned as candidates for the office of grand president in opposition to Edward H. Fitzgerald who is up for re-election. J. Forester of Washington, D. C., grand vice-president and former president of the brotherhood, and J. V. McLean of Kansas City, general chairman of the Rock Island men, are lined up with a strong delegation of supporters on each side.

Grover C. Millam of Kansas City was endorsed at a caucus of express men for the office of vice-grand president of the express men in preference to the present incumbent, John R. Abbott of Council Bluffs, Ia.

HARDING MAY DEPOSE REILY

Reported President Contemplates Naming Christian Porto Rican Governor.

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Harding is contemplating the appointment of his private secretary, George B. Christian, Jr., to the post of governor of Porto Rico, to succeed the present incumbent, E. Mont Reily of Kansas City, according to persistent reports current today in congressional circles.

No confirmation was obtainable at the white house.

In contemplating such a move, President Harding entertains no thought of "repudiating" Governor Reily, it was stated, but has become convinced that because of the difficulties Reily has experienced in administering the affairs of the island it would be better for Porto Ricans and for the interests of the United States to send somebody to the territory who could allay the widespread unrest that now exists.

Reily has been in continual hot water since becoming governor of the island. His political appointments and executive acts created a storm of opposition among Porto Ricans almost from the start.

Scour Timber in Effort to Find a Boy 2 Years Old

CHICAGO, May 5.—Police were casting for kidnaping or murder motives today following the vain hunt through the night by hundreds of searchers in Maine township forest preserve for Amerigo Gagliana, 2 1-2-year-old son of Leon Gagliana. The child disappeared suddenly from an automobile parked near the woods.

Torchers of searchers last night lighted up the country for miles and underbrush was turned up for possible resting place of the boy's body.

April Busy Month for Local Chapter of the Red Cross

The Lancaster county chapter of the Red Cross handled 345 cases during April, about the same as previous months. Twenty-six of the men asking aid were able bodied. Ninety-three were new cases. Over 300 of the total number were compensation claims to be filed or straightened out. The chapter gave out in loans and advances to twenty men $176, and collected from back loans from ex-service men $378.50.

The office of the city hall has been kept open afternoons, leaving the mornings for record and correspondence work. Starting this week Miss Alma LeRoy announces that the office will be open Saturday forenoons instead, as the city hall will close Saturday afternoons during the summer.

The local office is in receipt of a letter from Stella McTarvish, chief of Red Cross service at Veterans hospital No. 75, at Colfax, Iowa, which shows an interesting phase of the work.

Having heard that there was some talk of closing the Lincoln office on account of lack of funds, Miss McTarvish writes:

"I sincerely hope this is not the case as we have so many from Lincoln and vicinity and your co-operation has meant so much to us and to your men who are hospitalized here. It is always difficult to keep a patient contented if he is worried over affairs at home, and it is such a help to assure him that the Red Cross will look after his family during his absence."

FUNERAL POSTPONED.

EXPLAINS WAR AMONG CHINESE

Struggle Part of Fight Against Japanese Influence in Nation.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 5.—Rev. W. T. Hobart, dean of thological school of Pekin, China, explained the influences of the civil strife in China, in the course of an address here last night.

Dr. Hobart has passed thirty-nine years in China and was one of the defenders of Pekin during the Boxer siege.

"The struggle between General Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian warlord and Wu Pei Fu, is a part of the fight against Japanese influence in China," he said.

"General Wu was the leader who, in response to the uprising of the students three years ago, overthrew the Anfu party, which was receiving pay from Japanese sources for concessions and pocketing the money. Members of the Anfu party took refuge in the Japanese legation. Now they are trying to get back into power and are aided by General Chang.

"My sympathies are with General Wu and I think the sympathies of the people in general are with him, for the people of China are anti-Japanese."

300 Longshormen Jailed at Montreal

MONTREAL, May 5.—Three hundred striking longshoremen were arrested at their headquarters today by the police. Some of them are suspected of having taken part in the battle on the harbor front yesterday morning.

Among them are all the high officials of the longshoremen's union. They will be arraigned charged with conspiracy.

Mrs. Scott Says Her Five Years of Suffering from Stomach Troubles and Indigestion Has Now Been Entirely Overcome

"Thanks to Tanlac I am feeling like a different woman," said Mrs. L. Scott, 114 W. English St., Wichita, Kas., a valued employe of Johnson-Lorimer Dry Goods Co. for fourteen years.

"I had stomach trouble and indigestion so bad for five years I scarcely cared to eat and what little I forced down disagreed with me. I suffered from palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath and severe pains across the small of my back. I was so nervous any little thing upset me, and a good night's sleep was impossible.

"After the first few days of taking Tanlac my change was remarkable. Now I eat three hearty meals a day, have gained weight and I do all my housework in addition to my duties at the store. I want all to know what a grand medicine Tanlac is."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

BIG ULCER ALL HEALED

"Now I Can Walk," Says Mrs. Southcott of Lyndonville.

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson, of Buffalo. "One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars."

"Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big hearted, rich man who would give all he has on earth to be able to produce a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment, to sell at all druggists for 60 cents a large box."

Read this letter, written February 14, 1918, by Mrs. Albert Southcott, of Lyndonville, N. Y. It seems like a miracle, but it is true, every word of it.

I know it because I get similar letters almost every day from people who have used my ointment for old sores, eczema and piles.

Is it any wonder I am happy?

Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Dear Sirs—

"I was an untold sufferer from an old running sore and ulcers. I had tried most everything without any relief from pain. A friend told me of your wonderful ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not left me before in years, and after using just nine dollars worth of the salve I am cured. The ulcer was 9 inches by 6½ inches, is all healed and I can walk. Never, never will I be without Peterson's again.

"You may use this to recommend your ointment if you wish. I cannot say enough to praise it." Yours truly, Mrs. Albert Southcott, Lyndonville, N. Y. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

LEGION TO HAVE ESSAY CONTEST

Younger Generation Asked to Write on Organization's Value to America.

MacNider Says Flapper May Be a Senator and Her Brother President.

The time was never better than the present for someone to take up the cudgel in behalf of the younger generation and hear its suggestions, according to state headquarters of the American Legion, which adds that it is ready to take advice and willing to pay for it in the form of an essay contest, national in scope, to be open only to the young ones. The essays will be submitted in June.

The ear that desires the suggestions originally was lent by Hanford MacNider, national commander, who announced three prizes ranging from $1,000 down to $250, for the best three essays. Nebraska will augment these prizes in smaller denominations.

"She may be a flapper today, but tomorrow she may have a seat in the senate; the roundly maligned younger generation is going to run affairs in a future day, however, and the present generation should do everything in its power to prepare the way," confides a statement.

"Young men and women between the ages of twelve and eighteen years inclusive, are eligible for the contest. The essays are limited to 1,500 words and the tentative subject is 'How the American Legion Can Help America.' In other words, continues the statement, it is a direct appeal to the younger generation for its advice as to how the service men can improve their country.

"The three best essays from Nebraska will be judged by a jury of three nationally known critics—an educator, a journalist and an author," the statement asserts. "Medals will be given winners in each state and it is hoped that these awards may be supplemented by scholarships in schools or universities.'

"This younger generation will be ruling America when we of the Legion are getting too old to take much of an active part. The young miss in high school, flapper if you will, may be a senator when we are too old to vote, or her brother may be president. We want to know what we can do to pave the way for them."

THOMSON TO DARTMOUTH.

HANOVER, N. H., May 4.—Earl J. Thomson, world champion hurdler has reconsidered his intention to return permanently to his home in California and will act as coach of the freshman track team at Dartmouth college next year, it was announced today. Thomson who is now a student at the college, will attend the Amos Tuck school of business administration while acting as coach.

IRRIGATED LAND FARMERS TO MEET

Lute Suggests Conference of Settlers on Government Reclamation Projects.

Will Endeavor to Seek Relief From Construction and Operating Dues.

In order to seek relief for farmers on government reclamation projects in western Nebraska and other western states, who apparently are going to be unable to meet construction and operating dues on irrigation projects, H. D. Lute, secretary of the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation, has asked James R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation to call a conference of representatives of all western states in which these projects are located. It is asked that the conference be held at some western point.

Mr. Lute says that in many cases farmers on irrigated land were unable to meet their 1920 and 1921 dues on account of the low prices for farm products during that period. It is also apparent, he says, that with a $35.00 per ton price for sugar beets and other prospective farm prices during 1922 these farmers will do well to meet their overhead expenses out of the 1922 crop, and pay 1922 dues.

Under the Kinkaid relief act the 1920 and 1921 dues were deferred until December 31, 1923 drawing six per cent interest. This however, means that these farmers on or before that period must pay the 1920, 1921 and 1923 dues which, according to Mr. Lute, will be physically impossible under present and prospective conditions.

As an example of what these farmers are facing, Mr. Lute cites an eighty acre farm in the North Platte valley under irrigation which was assessed construction dues in 1920 of $252.64, which is now drawing one per cent per month penalty, and maintenance and operation dues amounting to $124.50. The same land in 1921 was assessed construction dues of $252.64, and maintenance and operating dues of $130.35, or a total of $877.62 for the two years or more than $11.00 per acre.

Presuming that the owner of this land will be able to meet his 1922 dues with the 1922 crop, he will then be compelled to meet these 1920 and 1921 dues as well as the 1923 dues out of his 1923 crop, which will be impossible.

Mr. Lute suggests that such a conference might have the effect of securing congressional action by which the 1920 and 1921 dues can be carried along until the regular payments are finished. Under the present arrangement final payment will be made in 1933.

Church Club Elects Officers at Dinner Held Thursday Night

At its closing dinner for the year, held Thursday night at the First Congregational church, the Thursday Evening club of that institution elected the following officers: Nellie Purdy, president; Bessie Maguire, vice-president; Eleanor Hinman, secretary. The chairman of committees were: Ida Robbins, October; Leah Schofield, November; Valeria Bonnell, December; Letta Clark, January; Anne Stuart, February; Emma Dennis, March; Lulu Horne, April; Nellie Williams, May.

A design for the memorial tablet to the members of the church who were veterans of the world war was selected from the designs submitted by the chairman of the memorial tablet committe, Miss Lena Merrill. The tablet chosen will be of bronze, measuring 22 by 32 inches, and will bear at the top the dates, 1917-1919. Below will be the legend in Roman letters, "To the two-score and twelve men and women of the First Congregational Church in Lincoln who went forth to serve in the great war for freedom of mankind:" and at the bottom, in smaller letters, "The Thursday Evening Club erected this memorial.

FREMONT—Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Larson will leave in about two weeks for a trip to their old home in Sweden.

Restaurant Man Didn't Eat His Own Food

"It's pretty tough for a restaurant man to have stomach trouble. My customers were always telling me I ought to eat in a good restaurant. The fact was I couldn't eat a thing that didn't bloat me up and no medicine or doctors helped me. I tried everything recommended and at last Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I assure you I didn't have to look any further. Since taking it I have been a well man." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Harley Drug Store and Druggists everywhere. Advertisement.

If you are thin and emaciated and wish something to help you put on flesh and increase your weight, Yeast Vitamine Tablets should be used in connection with Organic Nuxated Iron. Without organic iron, both food and Vitamines are absolutely useless, as your body cannot change inert, lifeless food into living cells and tissue unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood. Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs. This oxygenated organic iron unites with your digested food as it is absorbed into your blood just as fire unites with coal or wood, and by so doing it creates tremendous power and energy. Without organic iron in your blood your food merely passes thru your body without doing you any good.
Arrangements have been made with the druggists of this city to give every reader of this paper a large $1.00 package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets absolutely free with every purchase of a bottle of Nuxated Iron.

Correct Lubrication is Easy —When you use this Chart
IS your motor being scientifically lubricated? How sure are you that you are buying the right oil? Can you be certain you are right without the guidance of lubrication engineers, who not only understand your motor but who have also mastered the tremendous complications of oil supply and oil refining?
Automotive engineers agree that fully 80% of all motor repair and replacement costs are directly caused by the use of low grade oil or oil of unsuitable body. To meet this condition our experts have prepared a simple chart—the Polarine Chart—which insures you against costly mistakes of this nature.
This chart is included in the Red Crown Road Map which has been mailed to every motorist in the state of Nebraska. If you have not received a copy one will be sent upon request. It gives specifications for practically every car made; specifications tested and proved beyond the possibility of doubt.
Polarine is the highest quality of oil you can buy. Its stability under high engine heat assures a fuel-tight and gas-tight seal in the cylinders - maximum power and mileage from the gasoline. Its smooth, penetrating film protects bearings and engaging parts against wear, vibration and breakage.
Polarine Oil is made in four grades—medium light, medium heavy, heavy and extra heavy—but in only one quality.
You can get the proper grade for your car where you buy your clean-burning, scientifically balanced Red Crown Gasoline—and you will avoid a lot of bother and expense. Prevent costly lubrication mistakes. See the Polarine Chart today, make sure your oil is right, and stick to it. It pays big!

PLAYGROUNDS AND ZONING.

The Whittier school mothers' club has passed a resolution urging the city zoning commission to incorporate in the zoning ordinance provisions for the setting aside and maintaining more playgrounds in the city. While there is some doubt as to the ability of a zoning ordinance to include such powers, the action of these women is worthy of notice.

In the first place, both Mr. Ennis, zoning adviser, and the zoning commission, desire expressions from the public. If anyone has a suggestion or idea to make in reference to the proposed ordinance, the men in charge wish to hear about it. The time to criticise, either destructively or constructively, is while the ordinance is in the making and not after it has been passed.

The few who will probably oppose the ordinance are divided into several groups. First, there will be those who oppose everything. In every city there is always a small group of men who talk and think in terms of restraining orders, injunctions, etc. It is the result of a...lust for publicity and an impulse to always say no. There will be a few to oppose the ordinance because it will affect some money-making plan which they had in mind, such as building a corner grocery or a garage. And then, there will be a small number of citizens who do not understand the objects of the ordinance. The first group is so small, insignificant and headstrong that it is a waste of time to consider it. Those opposing the ordinance for selfish reasons will very likely see the viewpoint of the majority as the time for passing the ordinance draws near. The latter group should take the pains to learn the contents of the tantative ordinance, its aims and purposes. This group is composed of citizens who for the most part have the interests of Lincoln at heart but who through carelessness are in reality doing the city an injury. It is their duty to become better acquainted with the aims of zoning.

A second thought which the Whittier school mothers' club resolution brings to mind is the necessity for a definite playground expansion program. The time to provide for playgrounds is before the land has been made use of for commercial or residential purposes. Condemning property is always costly and often impossible. Even though at the present time the land is not needed for playground purposes, it is better to buy it, if available, and hold it until the times comes when the city does need it. The attitude of the present city administration as well as the former administration has been very friendly toward the extension of playgrounds and breathing spaces. The commissioners should receive the support of the people in their efforts to provide playgrounds for future Lincoln.

THIRTY YEARS FROM NOW.

Suppose you were seated at a table and on the other side was a man with a glint in his eye that held you steadfast, and suppose this man said to you: "I am you thirty years from now." Ridiculous, of course, but suppose such a thing could happen. What sort of a man would he be? Would his skin be withered and his limbs feeble? And what sort of clothes would he wear? Would he be in touch with the buzzing interests of life about him or would he live in an age gone by? Would happiness be written upon his brow, or only the lines of suffering? One thing is sure, he is the result of what he has made himself.

It is not a particularly pleasant pastime but it would be a valuable one for the young and middle-aged men of today to consider this character across the table. Of course, no young man starting out upon life's beautiful journey would admit that in thirty years he would be of withered hands and feeble limbs, or that the furrows of disappointment would show upon the brow. Nor is such a fate thirty years hence inevitable. Listen to what the old man would probably say to you:

"My boy, burn not the candle at both ends, but remember that you are given only one body to use while passing through this life. Eat wisely and sleep enough to rest your body. Save a part of all the money you earn. Add each day something to your store of knowledge and keep a keen interest in the events of life about you. Just as your muscles grow strong with exercise, so does your mind grow strong with use."

In such a manner one may well imagine the old man across the table speaking to the young man before him. Not a happy picture to conjecture yourself as a sad old man thirty years from now. Better to picture yourself as a bright-eyed, alert, active man growing younger each year. But it is today and not thirty years hence which is going to determine the kind of an old man you will be.

FIGHTING AND ACTORS.

The Manchester Guardian regrets that Jack Dempsey, when in England, did not receive as much attention as Charlie Chaplin or Mary Pickford and her husband when those noted film stars visited the isles. On first thought, Americans will attribute the lack of British enthusiasm for the champion to the way the pugilist overlooked the chance to fight in France some four years ago, but that is not the point of the Guardian's lament. That newspaper thinks the world is falling upon evil days when a great prize fighter draws less ovation than a film actor.

The Washington Herald makes an interesting comparison between the pugilists and actors:

"Fighting with fists requires brains, brawn and courage. None of the three are essential to a film actor. Prizefighters must lead clean, if not always upright, lives. If they do not the days of glory and revenue end suddenly. Some actors also are clean living gentlemen. But there is nothing in their profession which requires it. A few scandals have served in the past to enhance their reputation.

"In England, especially, the prizefighter has held a high place in the regard of the people. A distinguished heavyweight champion once served in the congress of the United States as a testimonial of his popularity. When John L. Sullivan came to town a few years ago it was almost an occasion for official holiday anywhere along the Atlantic coast.

"Now we fear that even in Washington, where there are a good many red-blooded men left, if Charlie Chaplin appeared in person at one theatre and Jack Dempsey at another, the most enthusiastic crowds would be on hand to applaud the actor.

"Only the leverage of another man's brain lifts the actor to glory. Without his lines learned by heart the best of our comedians would find it difficult to make the most receptive audience smile. The fighter's master strokes must come in the inspiration of critical seconds. He stakes his reputation on the ability to think in an instant and think correctly."

The Herald's viewpoint covers considerable ground, and, with a few actors and actresses in mind, the Washington newspaper might be challenged to prove some of its assertions. In fact, any number of people may be found who will maintain that Charlie Chaplin's foolery is at least a display of ability along his particular line which has never been successfully imitated by his numerous imitators. But to run down the list of popular film stars, it must be admitted that a great many do what to the average person seems very ordinary. It is a pertinent question, what makes a film actor a star? Has acting for the screen reached its goal of perfection when an actor or actress simply makes faces for close-ups and wears costly apparel?

INNOCENT CHILDREN.

There is only pity for the group of shabby little children taken to Washington at the instigation of Kate O'Hare to influence President Harding to release their fathers who were placed in the federal prison for treason. But who is responsible for the unhappy fate of these temporarily "fatherless" children? Mr. Harding is surely not to blame. The law simply took its course and when, during the war, these prisoners sought to stab their government in the back, they were convicted as traitors. By some, the words, political prisoners, are used, but such nomenclature is misleading. The men were traitors and softer words are not necessary.

As for the poor children, many of them have never seen their father and very few who have hold memories of kind daddies patting their curly heads. For the most part, the men who are in prison were never the kind of parents which we look upon with respect. They were poor providers and lacked the gentleness and home-loving characteristics which inspires parental love.

The truth of the matter is, the innocent children are simply the victims of radicals such as Mrs. O'Hare who are guilty of unscrupulous flag waving. There may be a few imprisoned fathers who would bring cheer and sunshine to their children, but most of them did not before they were sent to prison and there is no evidence that they would do so now.

Mistaken sentiment or false sympathy should not be permitted to oust reason.

Comment by the Press

THE LAND OF THE REGULATED.

Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire has been talking out in meeting. In New York the other day, addressing a gathering of women, he declared his conviction that direct primaries and the election of United States senators by popular vote have not made for good government.

The root of the difficulty, as he sees it, is that "legislation wholly socialist and entirely mischievous" is passed, "in deference to the desires of minorities aggressive enough to make themselves felt, and become the the masters of legislative bodies."

You said it, Senator, you said it. The rule of minorities it what we are cursed with. Party responsibility has gone glimmering, and with it party solidarity and its consequence, the rule of the majority.

The republican party, with a heavy majority in each house of congress, has the greatest difficulty in agreeing on policies, or in passing legislation to carry them into effect. Nearly every senator and congressman is thinking a lot more about what will happen to him in the direct primary, than about what is necessary to be done for the country's good. And there is no party discipline to keep him in line for platform principles or pledges.

But listen to Senator Moses go on:

There was a time when this was the land of the free; now it is the region of the regulated. Nothing is left to the initiative or the determination of the individual any longer. A man goes to work. The fare he pays on the trolley car is fixed by a commission. When he gets to the factory his hours are fixed by the statute, and his wages and the amount of work he is permitted to produce by the even more dictatorial rules of a labor union. If he goes to the movies in the evening, the picture he sees has been censored by a commission whose good taste generally is in doubt. And the chances are he sleeps in a bed made up according to directions in a pamphlet issued by some department of the federal government.

This is good satire, chiefly because it is buttressed on actual truth.—Minneapolis Journal.

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

HAVE YOU ANY DARK SPOTS IN YOUR LIFE?

"There are things about myself which I would like to tell to some one, but the person to whom I would unbosom myself would have such a power over me thereafter that, were he to so desire, I would be practically his slave."

This statement was made by a prominent man, a grandfather—who said that only the love of his grandchildren had made him realize how unfair, how unjust, and how untrue his life had been.

Dark spots in this man's life have come more keenly to his attention by contrast with the purity and confidence displayed by his grandchildren, and now he has lost the peace and comfort he might have experienced and all through his own misdeeds.

This man should not entertain the thought of telling the innermost secrets of his life to any friend.

This man should not put it into the power of any man to ruin him.

Now that he has grandchildren, if not for his own sake, he must hold the secrets about himself, and it is a greater burden every year he lives.

You may be tempted to tell some of your dark secrets to your friend.

Don't do it. Your greatest friend may be your direct enemy some day.

More Truth than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

TAKE IT FROM FOLKS!

My boy, you're startin' out in life;
Now listen; let this be your plan;
When you decide to choose a wife,
Get one with money, if you can!
Beware of art; don't let that bring
Your final overthrow about;
Art may be good, but it's a thing
That folks can get along without.

There's poetry; well, I admit
Some poetry is mighty grand;
I don't intend to say that it
Ain't got its place, please understand;
But, good or bad, the poet's lay
Is nothing people have to buy;
The poet can't come out and say
"You've got to have my rhymes, or die."

Go in for oil or coal or wheat,
Or deal in clothes folks have to wear;
Produce what people drink or eat,
And then you'll never have to care.
Remmeber, son—and get this straight—
Sell what must be consumed by men;
You'll never have to educate
Them up to any standards, then.

It's good to give the world the things
That help to polish and refine,
But all that easy money brings
Is always in some other line;
Go in for something people think
They can't afford to be without;
You'll have the boots beaten pink,
The artists crowded up the spout.

KERASUND, CITY OF ROMANCE.

(Blanche Norton in Asia.)

Kerasund (in Anatolia on the Black sea) arose behind a thin veil of lightly falling snow. From the sea the curving promontory looked like an island, crowned with a parapeted acropolis and covered with square, red roofed houses, oddly set on its sloping sides.

"It is known as the loveliest city on the Turkish side of the Black sea," Kyanna, my young Armenian interpreter eagerly explained, as we leaned over the ship's railing, waiting for a boatman to row us to shore. "No one knows how ancient it is. The Greeks say that the name means 'Land of Cherries' and that the Emporer Caligula sent here all the way from Rome to get cherries for his flamingoes."

She pointed out a tiny island near the shore as the only one in the sea. "There is a ruined castle on it where one of the daughters of King Mithridates was imprisoned for displeasing her royal parent. And there is a pile of stones that they say was an altar erected to Mars, who once visited the island. Jason rested there, too when he was going through this country in search of the golden fleece."

As soon as I landed I felt that however glorious the city had been in the past it was no longer glorious. Although I saw neither exiles nor ruins, among which I had been living for months, still the very stones of the street seemed to ooze gloom, and the air was like a palpable hate.

Rambling through Nebraska.

BY C. DURANT JONES.

An interesting musical organization, if not unique, is the Hastings Lyric Glee club, composed of eighteen or twenty of the best male voices in that city. The size of the club is not unique, but the idea back of the formation of the club might be classed as such, and the work that has been done belongs in the same class. For the organization was formed more than a year ago, and the idea was to demonstrate that it was possible for a city no larger than Hastings to offer a glee club entertainment that, from the artistic point of view, could not be excelled anywhere. Picked vocalists were selected and rehearsals were started under the supervision of W. G. Hay, one of the ablest musical directors in the middle west. Naturally, a great deal of interest was aroused, and there were many opportunities for the club to appear in public performances, none of which were accepted, for the club was determined that until it reached a certain degree of perfection it would not appear before the public at all. Now if the rehearsals had covered a period of two or three months, this item would not have been written. But when it is known that for more than a solid year, the members have been rehearsing weekly, one gets an idea of the spirit that animated the members. They worked under a one hundred per cent attendance rule another interesting angle of the work. When every member is at rehearsal every time and all the members are of a mind to achieve one hundred percent perfection in their work, the initial public program ought to be good. They will appear in public for the first time Monday, May 8, and the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs, along with many others, are working to sell every seat in the house—and they will be sold, too.

The county nurse completed the inspection of the children in the Ainsworth public school the other day and the report she makes presents an interesting study. Among other things, she found that 26 per cent of the pupils had defects in vision, 58 per cent were defective in breathing, 66 per cent had defective tonsils, the same proportion had something wrong with their teeth, 30 per cent were underweight, 17 per cent showed symptoms of malnutrition, 96 per cent had a defect of some kind, while but 4 per cent had no defects at all. Ainsworth has a school building so inadequate that the pupils are packed in like sardines, and the school board has been trying for a year to remedy the situation with a new building, but has been obstructed by all the legal tangles available. It is only fair to say, however, that this inspection does not signify that all these defects are attributable to the condition of the school building, nor does it indicate that the race is degenerating. School inspection is a comparatively new thing and we are told of many things that the children of forty years ago may have had, but no one told them of it.

There are just three topics of conversation in Nebraska now, and, strange to say, politics is not one of them, either state or national. People have not been greatly impressed with the state investigation of road building, most of them believing that it would lead nowhere, so they are not talking much about state politics, that is, with the exception of candidates. And the Genoa conference is not arousing much interest in the national situation, although the editors are talking about it, because they feel that the people expect them to do so. But the all-absorbing topics are, first, radiophones and how much they cost and how soon can a set be procured. Baseball comes a close second, for the home town teams are beginning to do some planning to walk off with the earn. And, in the north part of the state, fishing comes in. Up there they talk about fishing by day and dream about it by night. Good roads are being discussed some, because the roads lead to the lakes where the fishing is. But the people are not talking politics. The candiates are, for they are willing to get right into the thick of the fight and save the country. But the rest of the folks are talking about the live subjects. And what is the poor Rambler to do when he would enjoy getting a few live expressions upon political topics, when, no matter how a conversation is begun, it immediately veers of on to one of the three topics name above?

THE ILLUSIONS.

(Richmond Times-Dispatch.)

For years we have been searching high and low for that hero of the movies who appears always at the right moment and hoists the villain. The other day we found him selling collars at a shirt place.

We have wanted to meet the villain face to face—that black scoundrel of the plains, sinful, profane, death defying. We found him the other day, too, carrying out dead dishes in a restaurant.

And the lovely, girl, the creature of emotions and eyelashes, the dream of our summers, who is always sitting easily in a magnificent couch chair, taking tea from an obsequeous butler. We found her, too. She was selling tickets through the window as we came out from the show.

Sure Way to Get Rid Of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

The A No. 1 Tire Man of the Town

It takes about 80,000 tire dealers to serve the vast car-owning population of this country. What is your idea of what a tire dealer ought to be?

IN 1920 the makers of United States Tires brought a note of commonsense into the tire business with a message which said—

"Go to a legitimate dealer and get a legitimate tire"

From then on—over a period of two years—the American public was given the frankest picture ever published of the good and bad in tire retailing.

It was surprising how many car-owners were as anxious to find a legitimate tire dealer as we were to tell about him.

* * *

Today, go into any typical American city and you'll locate one or more tire dealers whose business rank is that of the best dry goods or clothing or hardware store.

This wasn't true a few years ago.

Now, when you think of the 12,000,000 automobiles that will soon be running in this country, you can see how legitimate tire merchants are needed.

Legitimate tires—such as U. S. Royal Cords. The clean selling idea—expressed by the Royal Cord policy.

Responsibility.

Where else can you get it—or how?

* * *

The A No. 1 tire man of your locality is not going to stop growing. He is an active factor in the new kind of competition, brought into the tire business by the makers of U. S. Tires.

A competition for more and more public confidence.

A competition for greater and greater public service.

The makers of United States Tires urge upon everybody—manufacturer and dealer alike—a new kind of competition.

Let us compete for more and more public confidence.

Let us compete for higher and higher quality.

Let us compete for still more dependable public service.

County Agricultural Notes

To Prevent Hog Cholera.

GENEVA, Neb., May 5.—By proper foresight and the exercise of sanitary measures on the part of swine growers, the sources of hog cholera in the county may be greatly reduced, if not removed, says Lee W. Thompson, county extension agent, in an article pointing out that some cholera already has been reported and that government agents predict more serious outbreak than that of last year.

"Hog houses, lots and pastures should be located away from streams and public highways, and be so arranged they can easily be cleaned and disinfected," declares Mr Thompson, "Runways not easily cleaned should be closed. Straw stacks that have been used for nesting places of sick hogs should be burned. Mud wallows and cess pools are dangerous sources of infection. And above all, dead hogs should be burned.

"Hog cholera may be prevented by the inoculation of hogs with serum and virus. Vaccination is no longer an experiment and if pigs are vaccinated before they attain large size and weight, the practice is not expensive and is a cheap form of insurance."

If a group of farmers wish to learn the method of vaccinating hogs or cattle, so they may be enabled to do their own work, the county agent can meet with the group and demonstrate the process of vaccination, Mr. Thompson interprets the law relative to participation in vaccination by county agents. If farmers do not care to do their own work and call the agent to do the vaccinating, it is not a demonstration and is not within the agent's scope of duties such individual practicing being the business of local veterinarians, according to Mr. Thompson.

Agricultural extension work illustrated in motion pictures will be shown in Geneva, Madison, Glengary and Chelsea townships next week. Three poultry meetings at the homse of accredited flock owners also will be held, one May 9 in Fairmont township, May 10 in Stanton township and another that afternoon in Franklin township. Incubation, and brooding, care and feeding of baby chicks will be discussed by Charles Corman, a specialist from the agricultural college.

Careless Handling Causes Tree Loss.

CRETE—A large proportion of the newly planted trees in Saline county died during the first year, observes J. C. Higgins, county agricultural agent, adding that improper planting or careless handling before planting usually was responsible. The roots of the trees should be protected from exposure to sun and wind during the planting operation, and the soil firmly packed above the roots when planted, says the agent.

Owing to the comparatively moderate winter which has just passed, but little, if any trouble may be expected from poor germination of seed corn in Saline county, but of more important than germination is the selection of the type of corn, comments Mr. Higgins.

Four co-operators will aid in carrying on corn variety demonstrations this year, the object being to show the wide differences in yield by the various counties, and if possible, to determine the best local field to check up on last year's work in the county.

Arrangements have been made to hold a poultry field day in the county at a poultry farm here the afternoon of May 11. A poultry school will be conducted and up-to-date methods of poultry managment and accredited flock work will be taken up.

Cattle Show at Norfolk.

NORFOLK—A stock cattle show to be put on by feeder cattle raisers in this section of the state, will be held here in October, according to the secretary of the local livestock sales pavillion. Ed. Belske of Eli, has been elected superintendent, who reports arrangements already under way. It is probable that a sale will follow the show.

A side track to the pavilion has been approved by the Northwestern railroad, which is expected to increase the shipments from this vicinity. Twelve new pens are being constructed at the grounds to take care of the stock cattle sale here tomorrow, when 410 head will be sold. Other improvements are planned.

Compare Varieties of Clover.

BATTLE CREEK—As a great amount of interest is being displayed in Madison county in the production of Alsike clover, compared with the biennial sweet clover, it is probable that arrangements will be made for a sweet clover tour sometime this summer, when a comparison can be made between the two varieties, reports R. A. Stewart, county extension agent.

Production and cost records on dairy herds will be kept this year by owners at Tilden and Madison. The milk from each cow will be weighed daily, butter fat tests will be made monthly and feed and labor records figured. Summarized totals at the end of the year will place each cow on a production basis that will permit judging the relative value in the herd.

A flock of seventy White Rock hens average sixty eggs a day during April, with the production at no time dropping to fifty eggs, says Mr. Stewart. The flock is one of seven on which records of production and cost are being kept under the accredited farm flock work. Better breeding, feeding and poultry culling will increase the production per hen, advises Mr. Stewart.

Moving Pictures of Soil Conditions.

WEEPING WATER—Soil erosion, soil terraces and alfalfa tracts were the subject of the government cameramen who came to Cass county and took pictures for an agricultural reel according to L. H. Snipes, county extension agent.

The Hot Lunch club of South Bend held its achievement day program, the eight active and six associate members completing a hundred per cent project. The club will organize as a clothing club and learn to sew this summer. A large attendance at the sewing demonstration held last week is reported.

A community fair was staged by the woman's club at Elmwood the funds of which will be used in building a community house there. A dress form demonstration held yesterday was largely attended by women from various sections, according to Mr. Snipes.

Miss Florence Atwood, nutrition specialist of the agricultural college, will be at the Nehawka auditorium May 9, and at Elmwood, May 10, to conduct child demonstrations in weights and measures.

The motion pictures treating with the round worm in hogs drew large crowds when shown at Cedar Creek, Hall, Union, Murdock, Greenwood and Weeping Water.

More Kanred Wheat in Thayer Co.

HEBRON—Due to a campaign by the farm bureau showing the better yields obtained from Kanred wheat and Kherson No. 21 oats, plantings of these varieties of grain show a large increase over previous years in Thayer county in preference to the common varieties, reports L. C. Christie, county extension agent.

Thayer county claims the largest club enrollment of any county, in the state, according to Mr. Christie, who adds that nearly $1,200 has been secured as premium money for club work to be paid club members having the best exhibits at the county fair this fall. The thirty boys' and girls' clubs consist of eleven poultry, two pig, seven clothing, seven cooking, two keep well and one farm account club.

Several meetings have been held recently to discuss that various animal diseases, conducted by the county agent. Among the diseases discussed was a lecture by Dr. Hayes of the bureau of animal husbandry, on the prevention of loss of hogs from round worms and several hog cholera and black-leg vaccination demonstrations.

A specialist has been giving the women folk of the county instructions in making dress forms. A large number have been made as a result of the demonstrations at a considerable saving on each form, reports Mr. Christie.

Every precinct in the county has from one to three demonstrations in home nursing and home emergencies, held by the county agent with the aid of a health specialist from the agricultural college.

Will Test Corn Varieties.

WALTHILL—Two corn variety tests are planned for Thurston county, one on the Berg farm near Rosalie, and the other on the McGuire farm near Pender, reports H. E. Huston, county extension agent. It is the purpose of these tests to make comparison of the different varieties and types under similar conditions. Not more than eighteen varieties will be put on test, Mr. Huston states, and probably but ten will be tested.

The gopher campaign in the county is described as "rushing" by Mr. Huston, who adds that no farmer "with a good field of alfalfa can afford to delay in fighting the gopher." At the rate the fields are greening up, it will not be long until the gopher mounds will be hard to find, he states, which makes it necessary that the campaign be actively stimulated.

Club work in Thurston county is expected to get a big start next week, when C. W. Jones of the agricultural college will visit the county and assist in organization work. Mr. Jones will spend May 9 and 10 in the county, and will make a special effort toward giving boys and girls a start in pig club work.

Much Tuberculosis Eradication.

SYRACUSE — Two camermen from the states relation service at Washington, accompanied by state directors of the extension service have just completed a series of films on agricultural activities in Lancaster, Cass and Otoe counties, writes A. H. DeLong, county agricultural agent. Soil erosion, control measures, terracing work and dam construction projects were filmed.

Reports of loss from black-leg continue to come to Mr. DeLong, while the cholera outbreak is still confined to a small territory, principally in neighborhoods where it was prevalent last year. Mr. DeLong quotes one farmer as saying "he had but three head which he felt would be susceptible to blackleg and it was hardly worth while vaccinating.' The farmer lost one-third of the number.

Area tuberculosis eradication work has been started in Delaware, Belmont, Wyoming, Four Mile, North Palmyra and South Palmyra precincts, while the Wyoming precinct is nearly complete and slow progress reported in South Palmyra, says Mr. DeLong.

The farm bureau board, at its annual meeting, voted to support the junior fair this fall, and a committee named to co-operate with representatives of other organizations in the interest of the fair. Prospects are good for the best fair Otoe county ever has held, according to Mr. DeLong.

Home Work Clubs Increasing.

BLAIR—Dress form, sewing and clothing clubs in Washington counties are increasing in membership and activity, despite the fact there is no home demonstration agent in the county, Carl Olson, extension county agent, reporting that more than 150 forms have been made by dress form clubs and much work done by the sewing and clothing clubs. Further sewing demonstrations will be held May 9-11.

The significant point in the work, Mr. Olson states, is that local leaders have carried on the work after having but one or two demonstrations from specialists.

A certain farmer who refused to have his hogs tested for tuberculosis found, upon shipping them to market, that they were forty-five per cent tuberculars, says Mr. Olson. The farmer now wants his hogs tested and will pay a government inspector to do the work. State indemnity and inspection by a local veterinarian is all that is available, Mr. Olson adds.

The Blair and Arlington high school corn clubs united in a trip to the seed corn farm north of Bennington, where members, who are planning to raise five acres of corn this year, obtained some interesting pointers in corn raising.

Two accredited poultry flocks in the county average more than seventeen eggs per hen and sixteen eggs per hen, during the month of March, states Mr. Olson.

Plan Farm Tour Next Month.

WAHOO—The annual farm tour in Saunders county will be made Tuesday, June 20, when farmers and business men will visit farms in all sections of the county, reports W. F. Roberts, county extension agent. More than 500 people took part in the tour last year.

A Holstein sire association has been completed and the five sires located in the various blocks, Mr. Roberts states. The association is planning a four to the agricultural college dairy herd May 26, to better acquaint members with the records of the breed.

The Ceresco garment and Hot Lunch clubs will hold an achievement day program May 15. Achievement certificates will be given at this time. The seal will be placed on the charter of at least sixty per cent of the members will have completed the work.

WHITTED RELEASED.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Brooklyn today released George Whitted to the Kansas City club of the American Association and Sam Crane to Seattle of the Pacific coast league.

If Kidneys and Bladder Bother

Start with Nature's Herbs and Roots to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Acids.

Help your kidneys — don't overtax them. Lighten your diet a little; eat less meat; drink lots of water and milk; avoid rich food.

Our blood is filled with uric acid and Toxins which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; thus the pores get clogged and create all sorts of distress, resulting in Kidney trouble or bladder weakness and eventually in Bright's Disease, Diabetis or Gravel. If you have the slightest pain in the kidney region don't neglect it or delay; flush your kidneys with this restorative so that they may regain their normal activity. Dr. Carey's PRESCRIPTION NO. 777 also neutralizes irritating acids, thus ending bladder weakness. Dr. Carey's PRESCRIPTION NO. 777 is inexpensive, harmless and is made from nature's herbs, roots and barks and is recommended by doctors. It never disappoints and has had 50 years of success for kidney and bladder troubles. Dijer's Pharmacy and all druggists have Dr. Carey's PRESCRIPTION NO. 777. SECRET OF A GOOD DISPOSITION

A woman wh carefully safeguards her health benefits her disposition. She will be happy and attractive to all. The world unfortunately is filled with sweet women who are unhappy because they are held back from usefulness by troubles so common among them. Fretfulness and nervousness, rapidly destroy good dispositions. Sickly all-worn-out women cannot make happy homes.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a safeguard of women's health. This is clearly proven by the many letters we are continually publishing in this paper, from women who have been restored to health and happiness by its use after years of suffering. Why don't you try it? — Advertisement.

Must Observe the Proper Angle in Parking of Cars

Police, acting under instructions of Mayor Zehrung are now tagging automobiles not parked at the proper angle from the curb. Persons who find their cars tagged must appear in police court and may be fined.

There has been considerable complaint that since only the curbs are marked with white lines it is not always easy for a driver to know whether his car is at the proper angle from the curb. When the city first commenced painting parking stalls they were painted on the pavement, but to save expense the street department now paints only a short vertical white line on the curb.

The mayor said that if all cars were properly parked there would be sufficient room for a person to pass between them without danger of soiling clothing.

Bismarck Man to Oppose Nestor

BISMARCK, N. D., May 4.—H. L. Ctegner, Bismarck, insurance man, today announced he would be a candidate in the republican primaries of June 28 for the nomination for governor against Governor R. A. Nestor, independent, and B. F. Baker, nonpartisan candidate. Mr. Stegner, in his announcement, said he was in favor of "scrapping" the entire industrial program of North Dakota, sponsored by the nonpartisan league.

The winning recipes are as follows:

First prize recipe—Twothirds cup sugar, ½ tablespoon butter, 1½ cup boiling water, 2 egg yolks, 3 tablespoons corn starch, juice and grated rind of a small lemon. Mix corn starch and sugar. Add boiling water. Cook for ten minutes in a double boiler. Add melted butter, lemon juice and beaten egg yolks. Cook until thick. Pour into baked shell. Cover with meringue. Brown in medium hot oven.

Second prize recipe—Pie crust: 1 cup flour, 1-3 cup shortening, 1-3 teaspoon baking powder, pinch of salt, ice water. Filling for crust: 3-4 cup sugar, 1½ tablespoons corn starch, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup boiling water, yolk of 3 eggs, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, grated rind of 1 lemon, ½ tablespoon butter, few grains salt. Process: Mix and sift corn starch and flour, sugar and salt; add boiling water gradually while stirring. Cook until mixture thickens. Remove from fire, add butter, egg yolks slightly beaten, grated rind and lemon juice. Turn mixture into pie crust. Frosting for lemon pie. Whites of 2 eggs beaten stiff, 2 tablespoons sugar; set in oven to brown.

Mrs. Harr's lemon pie—One pound powdered sugar, 1-4 pound butter, yolks of six eggs, whites of 4 eggs, juice and part of grated rind of 3 lemons. Beat yolks and sugar to a cream. Add whites unbeaten, one at a time, and beat the whole until very light. Add the juice and rind of lemons, beat the butter to a cream and add the other mixture gradually to it. Cook in double boiler stirring continually until the mixture thickens. Set away to cool. Line two deep pans with good paste and bake in quick oven. Fill with lemon mixture. Add gradually 6 tablespoons powdered sugar to whites of 4 eggs, beating all the time till stiff. Spread over pies and set in oven until a light brown.

Mrs Rice's Recipe

Mrs. Rice's lemon pie—One cup sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 3 tablespoons corn starch. Let boil until clear. Add yolks of 2 eggs well beaten, 1 tablespoon butter. Cook until thick. Then add juice and grated rind of 1 lemon, let cool and pour into baked crust. Cover with icing made of whites of 2 eggs beaten stiff, and 2 tablespoons of sugar. Set in oven to brown.

Mrs. Huss' lemon pie—Two cups sugar, 4 eggs, 4 tablespoons corn starch, 3 cups water, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 lemons (grate the yellow of lemon and add to juice). Heat 2½ cups of water to boiling point, to which butter has been added. Then mix sugar and corn starch and and ½ cup of cold water. Lastly add beaten yolks of eggs and boil three minutes. Cool and add lemon juice. Bake with one crust. Whites of eggs for frosting. This makes two nice pies.

Mrs. Bateman's lemon pie—Make a shell by putting a good pie crust on the outside of an ordinary sized pie pan, prick with a fork and bake. Filling: ½ cup sugar, 1 cup hot water, 2 level tablespoons flour, ½ large lemon, 3 eggs. Stir flour and sugar together, add the grated rind and juice of lemon, removing the seeds. Mix well, then beat in the yolks. Into this stir the cup of boiling water. Place in double cooker and stir until it thickens; cool for ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Then turn into the shell. Meringue: Beat the whites until stiff, add 4 level tablespoons of sugar and pinch of cream of tartar. Spread on the pie and set in oven to brown.

Mrs. Broschinski's lemon pie—One and one half cups milk, 1 lemon, 2 eggs, 1½ cups sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 5 tablespoons flour mixed with ½ cup of the milk and pinch of salt. Beat egg yolks with a little of the sugar, and butter with the rest of the sugar. Then mix the two together and beat. Add the juice of lemon, also grate a little rind. Then add the flour which has been mixed with ½ cup milk. Then add the cup of milk and lastly add whites of eggs beaten with salt. Then do not beat much. Just stir and put in a raw pie shell (unbaked) and bake like a custard pie in a slow oven. This makes a large pie.

By Miss Gertrude Bender

Miss Bender's lemon pie—One half cup sugar, 2 tablespoons corn starch, 2 eggs, rind of 1 lemon juice of 1 lemon, pinch of salt, butter size of a walnut, 1½ cups boiling water. Take sugar and corn starch, add enough water to make a smooth consistency. Separate whites and yolks of eggs, beat yolks and add to sugar and corn starch. Grate the lemon, add the rind, also the juice, salt and butter. Stir the boiling water into ingredients and cook till thick. Pour filling into baked pie shell and cover with the beaten egg whites to which 2 rounded tablespoons of sugar have been added and beaten after the whites were stiff. Brown in a hot oven and serve when cool.

Mrs. Smith's lemon pie—Three fourths cup sugar, 3 level tablespoons flour, pinch of salt, yolks of 2eggs, butter size of a large English walnut, juice and a little grated rind of one juicy lemon, 1½ cups boiling water. Beat yolks of eggs till creamy, keeping the whites cool for meringue. Sift together the sugar, flavor and salt and slowly stir into the beaten egg yolks. Add the butter to boiling water and carefully pour above mixtures into this. Cook in double boiler ten minutes. Line a medium deep pie tin with rich paste and bake. When filling is ready, add lemon juice and grated rind and stir till well blended. Fill crust and cover top with beaten egg whites, to which have been added 1 tablespoon sugar, a few drops of lemon juice and sprinkle of salt. Place in oven and slightly brown.

Mrs. Martin's Recipe

Mrs. Martin's lemon pie—Two and one half pints boiling water, 2 cups sugar, 2-3 cup corn starch, butter size of egg, 1 whole egg and yolks of 3, 3 grated lemons with juice. Moisten sugar, corn starch and butter with a little cold water, add to boiling water and stir till thick. Remove from stove and add beaten yolks of eggs and grated rind and juice of lemon (Eggs first, as lemon first would cause eggs to curdle). Put into crust previously baked, cover with beaten whites of eggs, sweetened with 2 tablespoons sugar. Return to oven and bake a golden brown. This makes two large pies.

Mrs. Wing's lemon pie—Crust 1-4 cup lard, ½ cup flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, as little cold water as possible to form a paste that will roll. Line pie tin, pinch edge to make higher rim, bake. Filling: 1 cup water, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 egg yolks, 2 tablespoons corn starch, juice of 1 lemon and little grated rind. Heat water, sugar, butter, lemon juice and a little grated rind. Add corn starch moistened with a little cold water. When thick add beaten egg yolks. Turn into the baked pie shell and add the whites of the 2 eggs beaten with 2 tablespoons of sugar and ½ teaspoon lemon extract. Brown in oven.

Mrs. Baker's lemon pie—Yolks of 2 eggs, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1½ cups cold water, 3 tablespoons corn starch smoothed to a paste, juice of 1½ lemons and grated rind, butter size of an egg added, when ingredients start to boil. Cook in a double boiler until thick, then pour into pie shell previously baked. Beat the 2 whites for top.

Lemon Pie Recipe Awards

Announcement of the winners in the lemon pie competition is made in Friday's issue of The Lincoln Star. The judges, including members of the instructional staff of the domestic science department of the University of Nebraska divided the recipes into two groups because of the large number submitted.

The winners in the first group are given. Next Friday announcement will be made of the best recipes in the second group.

Anyone caring to submit a recipe for lemon pie to be judged with the second group for next Friday should mail their recipe to the Recipe editor of The Lincoln Star, to reach this office not later than next Tuesday noon. Recipes received after that date cannot be considered.

George Harvey Has Returned to London

LONDON, May 5.—George Harvey, American ambassador to Great Britain, who has been in the country most of the time since the opening of the Genoa conference, returned to London today. He refused to comment on reports that Washington had instructed him to make inquiries regarding oil and other matters of American interest before the economic conference.

The British foreign office has shown a keen desire to assure American inquiror that the British government has no concern whatever in oil negotiations at Genoa.

Practical Arts Exhibit Seen by Grade Teachers

The teachers of the fifth and sixth grades met May 3 at the Bryant school to see an exhibit of practical arts. This exhibit was the work of the fifth and sixth grades from the entire city. Nothing was prepared especially for the display. The work represented a definite method of making subject matter concrete. Most of the projects were the outgrowth of geography, history and nature study. Much originality, initiative and careful thinking on the part of fifth and sixth grade boys and girls were shown.

After the exhibit the teachers of the Bryant school served punch and marguerites.

A similar exhibit of third and fourth grade work was held at The Bancroft school earlier in the semester.

Mrs. Kate Kinyon, household arts supervisor, and Miss Sue Hoagland, supervisor of fine arts, directed the exhibit.

Teachers Meet to Remedy Complaint on Reading Method

During this present semester the teachers of the elementary grades have held meetings for the consideration of reading and language. The complaint that chilren read fluently but do not know what they are reading has led to a careful study to find the remedy for this difficulty. The plan of the work has been to hold two meetings with each group of teachers, the first showing illustrative lessons, the second a follow up meeting for discussion. During the discussion meeting very many teachers have contributed their own ideas and suggestions. The following meetings have been held.

First and second grade teachers: 1 B Readings, Miss Opal Lewton, Whittier school; 2 B Reading, Miss Clara Hohl, Capitol school. Capitol school teachers were hostesses for this group.

Third and fourth grade teachers: 4 B Reading, Miss Beth Barton, Hartley school. 3 B Language, Miss Arlette Shaw, Prescott school. Bancroft teachers were hostesses for this group.

Fifth and sixth grade teachers: 5 B Reading, Miss Mattie Mumford, Park school. 6 B an A Language, Miss Ethel Clark, Everett school. Bryant teachers were hostesses for this group.

A very fine professional spirit has characterized this study. Some of the city teachers have attended all of the meetings. Most of them attended more than their own group.

These meetings have been under the direction of Miss Alice Hanthorn elementary supervisor and Miss Clare McPhee, chairman of the English committee.

Ruling Adverse to Edith Gould

NEW YORK, May 5.—The order of Supreme Court Justice Gay, which would have granted Edith Kelly Gould $5,000 to reopen in New York state her suit to divorce Frank J. Gould, was reversed today by the appellate division of the supreme court. The justices unanimously denied her application for an allowance and held she had no cause for action.

Mr. Gould obtained a divorce from her in France in 1919.

Favorable Report on Bland Measure

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Favorable report was voted by the house labor committee today on the Bland bill to create a fact finding commission for the coal industry.

Will Not Urge Modification of Packer Divorce

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The government will not advocate any modifications of the decree divorcing the packers from their side lines, Attorney General Daugherty announced today.

The issues before the court arising out of the petition filed by the California Co-operative Canners' association, will be settled by the courts in its own adjustment without any ment of jujstice, Daugherty declared

CHAPTER 634

The note from Lyons which Carlotta had so unsuspectingly brought was characteristic.

"Dear Mrs. Harrison," it read, "I thought you ought to know, so I make so bold as to write. I'll speak this around to Bertha somehow, if only Miss Carotta doesn't say 'good-night' too quick. I seen that Mr. Lee tonight. It appeared to me he was following.

But as soon as he starts to go to the restaurant after Mr. Norreys jumps down and touches him on the arm. You should have seen him run. I lost him because I couldn't drive the car for fear of what some friends of Dick West's might do. I'll be on the lookout for both gentlemen. But—making so bold—I think you ought to know. I'll do all in my power. But you may have plans for your friends to carry out. Again, if it ain't presuming too much, I'd like to say that though I'm only Mr. Norreys' driver, you earned my undying gratitude, and friendship ditto. And I got nothing in life more important than serving you. Yours humbly and faithfully,

"GEORGE LYONS."

Looking up with tears in my eyes, I said to my blurred reflection in the dressing table mirror.

"He means it, too, Barbara Anne. He has nothing more important to do than try to serve you. But your other friends have their own lives to live. You wouldn't have it otherwise. Only it's funny that right on top of Carlotta's saying that she wished you had come one person devoted to your cause Lyons should write and tell you how completely he is pledged to your service. You've one firm friendship, anyway, Barbara Anne."

I tried to be brave about it. But some quality in the utter devotion and loyalty of the ex-thief I helped to find his real self hurt me, even while it made me grateful and proud. There is nothing I like less than being sorry for myself. But I stayed up half the night doing just that.

Between worrying over Rose Cordova's evident determination to be the first to tell Jim of Dad Lee, and fear because Dad Lee and presumably, Dick West have returned, I'd have had enough to keep me wakeful in any case.

What made it still harder to get myself composed to sleep was my nervous anxiety to get a good night's rest so my brain would be clear for my interview with Mr. Lacy. After counting innumerable sheep, and playing several holes of golf, I fell asleep about the time I was teeing off the ninth hole.

Early in the morning I got a telegram from Rose Cordova saying she wouldn't be at the office this morning, as something of importance had come up.

"What can it be?" I pondered. "Is it a personal matter? Had she some purpose? Is she going to manage to find some big thing to do for Jim, and to shut me out from serving him in moments that may really count?"

I tried to shake off this fear as unworthy. I tried to make myself feel that I didn't care who does things for Jim—so they get done. But this isn't so.

Much as I needed the extra time which Rosa's defection gave me for my own work, I went to Jim's office instead of telephoning Mabel that the conference was off.

Mabel is one of the few persons to whom I can speak frankly of Dad Lee. With her I don't have to pose about my attitude toward him. So I told her of Rosa's encounter with Dad Lee and of the discussion of the matter I'd had with Rosa.

"The little cat!" ejaculated my Goddess of Liberty girl vehemently. The failure of her usual poise and dignity astonished me. But after a moment it dawned on me that her single phrase suggested a great deal. I looked Mabel squarely in the eye and her eyes fell from my probing glance.

"She is a little cat," I replied. "I guess that sums up the situation. And now I'm going to trot along and work on some advertising copy for an account I hope to make a splendid thing of."

"More power to you," replied Mabel, betting up with the suggestion of awkwardness and seizing my hand in a grip which conveyed her wish to stand by. "I hope you make a big thing of your business. I hope you don't run afoul of Dick there. If I knew where to find him I'd try to make some sort of bargain with him—to keep him from touching you. I'd like to do something"——

"You've done everything. No one could have accomplished more," I replied, sensing how deeply Mabel sympathized with my unspoken fear.

I wished she could find the courage to speak out. I'd not be so afraid of Rosa's probable intent to be the one to tell Jim of Dad Lee if only Mabel weren't evidently struck dumb by the same fear. But I took my cue from her and mentioned no name but Dick's. "But I couldn't have you facing a madman like Dick West for me, Mabel. Not you of all people."

"I'm the only person you know who has nothing to fear—who has nothing more to fear—from Dick West," Mabel corrected hastily.

"Nevertheless, I'd be afraid to have you face a man who once set fire to an apartment and before that even made an attempt on a life," I replied.

"Does Rose Cordova know where Mr. Lee is to be found?" asked Mabel.

"I'm sure she doesn't," I replied. "I took it for granted that he'd be with his friend, Mr. Rogers, again at his hotel. I suppose it would be wise to find out—to invite him back into my life."

"If he'll come," said Mabel tersely. Her words crystallized a determination I've been trying to avoid. Heretofore Dad Lee has sought me. He came into my life uninvited, and he has thrust himself into my affairs over and over when some brief separation has given me freedom from the poor little prodigal father I can't pretend to be glad to see.

Now I must keep him in my life. I must seek him out and hold fast to him. No matter by my enemies may interpret this loyalty to Jim requires that I get in touch with Dick West by whatever means I can manage to discover.

I can't delay. I must find Dad Lee.

(To Be Continued.)

Zoners Urged to Make Provision for Playgrounds

The Whittier Mothers club, in a resolution passed at a recent meeting urges the zoning commission to make proper provisions for playgrounds for the children of Lincoln. A copy of the resolution, which read as follows, was filed with the city clerk Thursday:

"Resolved: That the Whittier Mothers club urge the zoning commission to incorporate in the plans which are being made at this time districts for the maintenance of playgrounds for the children of this city, the need of which will increase more and more with the growth of Lincoln.

"And, be it further resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the said city zoning commission.

MINERVA'S MAIL

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Jumped at Conclusions.

Dear Minerva:—We are the three high school girls "Just Fourteen" called immodest. Now Minerva we do use powder, which we do not call being immodest but not one of the other things do we or woud we do. The only reason "Just Fourteen" doesn't is because her mother won't allow it. For she is the kind that would if she could. She tells an untruth when she says we pass candy among ourselves when in her presence for we do not. She has never tried to win back our friendship and if she does now she will not get it. In the grade school she was always given her own way and now because we did not go the way home she wanted to she will not speak. Now Minerva do you think this kind of a person should be taken in as one of our friends?—THE THREE.

A. Yours is, as I told "Just Fourteen" a typical school-girl quarrel. This is exemplified by your jumping at false conclusions. I am very sure "Just Fourteen" meant to make no personal allusion to you girls, or any other particular girls when she said her problem was not whether she should use rouge, etc. She was making the comparison between her letters and others which frequent the column, not between herself and her friends. You read her letter hastily and were quite too ready to be suspicious of her. In like manner, you watch her actions and are over-ready to criticise and ridicule. It would be impossible for her to satisfy you girls while you maintain such an antagonistic attitude. Don't you think it would be much nicer, and bigger to take her back into your circle of friendship, for she is surely unhappy outside, and to seek her good qualities instead of concentrating on her unfortunate ones. We all have our faults, you know.

Coaxed From Home

Dear Minerva:—I wonder what the world is really beginning to think of equal suffrage. I have asked the opinion of many men and women, married and single, rich and poor. Only one man was for it and that because it helped to make America dry. Yes it has done a few good things but look at the harm it has done. It is the greatest home-wrecker of today. Greater than whiskey or "hard times." Woman makes the home and when she is gone home is usually gone also. It is coaxing many women away from home toward some line of work or profession instead of from it. Anything that does that isn't worth having. Just tonight I read where a woman doctor was trying to feminize the medical profession and recently of one who was trying to feminize the pulpit. What's the matter with these women? If we men were equipped to raise families I'm sure we wouldn't sacrifice it to get our pictures in the paper and for gold. Wonderful are those like Ardent Suffragette who love it so but still love their homes better.—ANOTHER JACK.

Rules are Reversed

Dear Minerva.—I have been going with a young man for about a month and a half and he is very dear to me. But this is my trouble. I do not know for sure whether he cares for me or whether he is just going with me to get the use of the car. He tells me to come down to his place when he should come to mine but he has no way to get to my home, quite a distance to walk. Then he takes the car and we go wherever he wants to go whether I want to or not. But I do love him although he is so different from the other boys I hve gone with and all this time I have gone with him he has only kissed me twice. He doesn't always have his arm around me like most silly boys would and never talks nor acts insulting. But in public I think he acts as if he were ashamed of me although I act and dress nice. He is so cranky too. If I ask him anything he answers it in a few words and lets it go at that. He used to go with a girl friend of mine and we went out to her home one afternoon and instead of him treating me as he should while we were in the car my friend was sitting on the front door on my side of the car. She asked us to go in because she was getting cold but instead of getting out he told her to get in the middle and he would keep her warm. She did and he did. Well I didn't know what to say or think. On the way to his home I didn't say a word and neither did he. When we got there he asked me if I was peeved and I asked him if that wasn't enough to make anybody peeved. He looked at me with big, wondering eyes but did not apologize. His brother told me the next day he went upstairs and did not say a word to anyone.

Now Minerva I would certainly like to know how to find his love for me. Should I ask him face to face. TOOTS.

A. The rules of the game are certainly quite reversed in this friendship. This might not be of any import for a short time but as a steady thing is not so good. You see it would be very possible for the young man to be making material use of your friendship and not care for it otherwise. Whereupon whenever he found other fields as fertile to romp upon—other girls who would provide his luxury-loving self with a car, etc.—he would not hesitate to drop you. He might even be telling his friends what a soft snap he had, how easy you were and such unpleasantries.

These are all "might-be's," you must remember and you are not to take them too seriously. But I recommend that you protect yourself by using more discretion and convention. Have the young man call for you as all young men should call for their girl friends. The matter of conveyance from his house to yours should be his problem, not yours. It is unconventional for you to call for him, and, as unconventional acts are apt to be, so is this likely to be misinterpreted not to your advantage. Sa ask him to cal for you on the occasion of your next social evening together. If you wish to use the car then, do so, but have some spunk and some say-so in the matter of recreational destination. Don't let the young man work you. If he doesn't seem to care to call unless called for, and if he does not care to spend the evening unless always in the automobile, then you can be sure he is a friend of your posessions, not of you. Put him to the test. That's fair enough.

Help Each Other

Dear Minerva:—I have been a reader of your Mail for some time. I have no troubles to bring to you but after reading Mrs. Common Sense's letter I cannot keep still any longer. I think she has yet something to learn. Four of her family have two children each, all they want, and her cousin has twelve, she says. But you just wait. The cousin may be the happier one later on. When they are all growing how interesting each one of the children is. I have a friend about forty years old that has two children, several farms, dandy modern house and everything one could wish for along that line. But she is always complaining and sickly. Some of the neighbors have eight or ten children and everybody happy. And have you ever noticed how children of a large family are helpful to others where those that have one or two are lazy and spoiled and make parents more trouble than ten or twelve. When the Lord created the earth he didn't say "now each of you have as many children as you like".—A. C.

Delightful May Morning Breakfast at First Christian

Maypoles, with rainbow - colored streamers on which were poised gay butterflies, hanging baskets filled with morning glories and wisteria, spring flowers and singing canaries formed a beautiful spring setting for the May Morning Breakfast given by the Woman's society of the First Christian church. Baskets of lilacs and apple blossoms against a flower covered lattice background were used on the stage where the program was given, following the breakfast.

Two hundred guests enjoyed the three course breakfast, with its delicate rainbow color scheme. Yellow tapers flaming in crystal stick formed dainty maypoles in the center of the many small tables, with lavendar ribbons extending to each cover. Attached to the ribbons were the individual favors, rose umbrellas in the spring shades. At the close of the banquet Miss Margaret Hallett, president of the society, introduced Mrs. A. M. Newens, who had charge of the program.

A feature of the program which had not been omitted since the first May breakfast of the women's society in 1911 was the singing of an original song by Frank Spangler. The remainder of the program was given by the members of the University School of Music and consisted of a group of songs by Miss Katherine Kimball, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Righter, readings by E. Manley Phelps, head of the dramatic department; and a program of musical numbers by the Lincurance Philharmonic orchestra, composed of Georgia Wunderlich, Adelaide Kayne, Lee Hemingway, and Gale Brown, violinists, Vivian Brewster, cellist, John Brown, pianist and leader.

The first was the county convention to be held at Hallam, May 18 and 19. In connection with this this a committee consisting of Mrs. H. E. Lidolth, Dr. D. E. Thomas, Rev. Frank Mills, Miss Eleanora Miller, Mrs. Way, was appointed to arrange for a picnic to be held the first noon of the convention.

Miss Margaret Ellen Brown, president of the state Sunday School association, brought forward the plans for the state convention to be held June 13, 14 and 15 at Fremont. They include among other features a model school for children under 15 to be held each afternoon of the convention conferences for the young people between fifteen and twenty, general sessions with speakers, and departmental meetings.

Company Did Not Know Seeds Impure But Pays a Fine

The Grand Grocery company, a corporation, through its attorney, Claude Wilson, Friday morning entered a plea of guilty in Justice Hawes' court to the three complaints sworn out against it by Ed W. Stockfiel, of the state bureau of pure foods, drugs and oils, charging sale of alleged misbranded and impure agricultural seeds, such as Timothy, Red Top and others. Justice Hawes then imposed a fine of $5 and costs, a total of $8.35 on each complaint, which was paid. The company claimed that it bought the seed from a feed house and did not know it was misbranded.

NEW HONORARY SOCIETY FORMED

Centurions and Vestals Are Chosen at University Banquet.

To Carry Out Traditions of Arts and Science College.

The Centurions and Vestals, a new honorary organization of the Arts and Science college was formed Thursday night following a banquet of the Arts and Science college at the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce. The aim of the organization is to carry out the traditions of the college and stand for the highest of ideals. Close to 300 attended the college dinner. Dean P. M. Buck presided.

The members of the Centurions and Vestals were chosen from the body of students by masked messengers, who with the aid of flash lights picked out the initiates from the darkened room. Following is the list:

Centurions: Roy Gustafson, Ward Randol, Jack Dierks, Glen Munger, Orville Gaston, Edward Buck, Reede Reynolds, Mike Miles, Raymond Smith, William Wright, Walter Gass, and G. E. Noble.

Vestals:- Betty Scribner, Bob Henderson, Ruth Fickles, Francis Burt, Clara Deilsbach, Mary Sheldon, Grace Stuff, Ruth Kadel, Od Detman, Belle Farman, Mary Leslie, Winifred Hyde and Elda Walker.

The initiation ceremony and play given by the dramatic department of the university, was written by Dr. H. B. Alexander of the department of philosophy, for this occasion. Only a part of the play was given. Dean Buck announced that the entire play will be given June 2, in an out door theatre on the campus.

The university orchestra, directed by W. T. Quick furnished the music for the occasion. The singing of the "Cornhusker" was the first event on the program. Dean Buck began the speaking with the introduction of Chancellor Samuel Avery, who sketched the history of the Arts and Science college.

Gives History of College.

The chancellor gave the story of the Arts and Science college when it was the only college on the campus. He told of the great men who have gone and who were connected with this college, among them the nationally known botanist Dr. Bessey.

He spoke of the memory of Dean Ellery W. Davis, first dean of the college after it had been reorganized. He told of the historic old wooden bicycle that the dean rode for the amusement of the students. The chancellor said that he possessed a binding force which he used in holding the different colleges of the campus together.

Dr. Alexander spoke for a few minutes on "College Spirit." He said that the outstanding feature of the Arts and Science college is the spirit that sets it aside from all the other colleges on the campus.

"It is the spirit that makes any college," he said. "One does not matriculate in college for merely undergraduate course but he enters life, and always is a member of that college. College life is not a matter of hours and of the studies that are carried but it is the attitude that the student gains toward life and humanity."

Dean Fred Dawson also spoke of college spirit.

The last speaker was Prof. Orin Stepanek, who gave a very humorous and interesting talk.

Miss Louise Cook gave two humorous readings, following the banquet.

Nebraska Farm Bureau Notes

RED CLOUD—The first year's work in bovine tuberculosis conducted in this county by Dr. Leiby, has resulted in the testing of 543 herds or 6,491 head, in which 172 reactors were found. The cost has been approximately $1 per head and the indemnity loss has been approximately $7,000 or a total of $13,000, but the reward has been the knowledge that 546 homes are using pure milk.

WALTHILL—C. W. Jones of the college of agriculture will be in Thurston county, May 9 and 10, to assist in the organization of boys and girls clubs. Special attention will be given to pig club work.

HEBRON—Due to the increased production of Kanred wheat in Thayer county last year, a largely increased acreage of Kanred was sown last fall. A largely increased acreage of Kherson No. 21 oats will also be sown this year.

FALLS CITY—A. T. Anthony in Lexington precinct has sown seven different varieties of alfalfa seed on his farm for experimental purposes, which will be watched with interest by all farmers in the county for the next two or three years. Grimm's Turkestan and Dakota No. 6 are among the varieties sown.

WALTHILL—The treatment of horses in Thurston county for the eradication of scabbies, which was prevalent last year, will be resumed by the United States bureau of animal industry in co-operation with the Indian agency. It is hoped that by starting dipping animals early that another epidemic such as was experienced last year will be averted.

WAHOO—The Saunders county farm bureau is urging farmers to plant more vegetables for their own table use this year, particularly a greater variety. "It's a good way to eliminate medical and doctor bills," is the advice given. Every person should have some vegetable food at least twice each day, according to County Agent W. P. Roberts.

TRANSPORTATION GREAT PROBLEM

Almost Impossible to Get Supplies to Starving Russia.

Plenty of Food Sent in But Bad Roads Make it Inaccessible.

According to Dr. H. P. Wekesser, president of the Central States Volga Relief society, ample supplies to avert starvation are now in the famine district of Russia, but the transportation facilities are so bad that it is almost impossible to get the food to those who are so much in need of it. Efforts are being made to alleviate conditions, but results are slow. The statement given out by Dr. Wekesser follows:

"Recent bulletins from the A. R. A. and letters from our representatives indicate that there are sufficient supplies on the way to the famine area, but that the transportation facilities are in such terrible condition that the supplies cannot be moved fast enough to save as many as could be saved if it was possible to move all of the supplies that are available.

"In one letter Rev. Wagner refers to the transportation as being 'simply terrible,' and in another as being in such condition that it drives an honest person nearly crazy, and that a certain distance that could be covered by a camil in eleven or twelve days, a trainload of supplies required four weeks for the trip. An A. R. A. bulletin describes a trip to the warehouse made by 334 men over roads that were impassable to horses. These men returned to their village, a distance of thirty-four miles, each one with a sack of corn on his back.

"The principal complaints that we hear are that not enough supplies are reaching the people and the only excuses at present are the poor transportation facilities. It is clearly evident from all reports that if the supplies could be transmitted there would be very few deaths from starvation at this time. In the distribution of supplies the system adopted by Rev. Wagner and Mr. Repp makes it impossible for those in charge to appropriate anything for themselves.

"On April 7 Rev. Wagner expected to leave Saratov for Moscow to see what could be done to hasten the shipping of supplies to Saratov. Recent reports indicates that 350 carloads of supplies are leaving Moscow daily for the famine area. The A. R. A. and the organizations cooperating with the A. R. A. are now sending 95 per cent of the relief that comes from the outside."

DOORLY IN PLEA FOR SPIRITUALITY

Christian Science Lecturer Says All Science Based on Spirit Not Matter.

London Man Believes Must Change From Material to Spiritual Base.

Science, theology, and medicine must change from a material to a spiritual base of operation before they can accomplish permanent results was the position of John W. Doorly, C. S. B., of London, in a lecture at the Christian Science church Thursday night.

John L. Speidell introduced Mr. Doorly and said:

Christian Scientists are always glad to see an audience gathered to listen to a lecture on Christian Science, because they have found a large measure of freedom and happiness in its teachings and are glad to see others avail themselves of it. If there is anything surprising about this science it is its profound simplicity; yet, because it is a departure from other teachings, its viewpoint must be gained before a proper estimate can be had of its great purpose and possibilities.

Jesus found it desirable to refer to his healing works to verify his teaching. Christian Science offers its demonstration of healing and regenerative power as proof of the correctness of its interpretation of that teaching.

Mr. Doorly spoke substantially as follows:

Should humanity pause in its headlong course of materialism long enough to consider, calmly and dispassionately, where this course is leading it to, it would certainly be astounded and perhaps horrified to find how great a part material theories play in human calculations and conditions, and how small a recognition or acceptance is given to spiritual facts. Our world of to-day accepts as science that which deals wholly with material things, and whatever thought enters into its so-called scientific calculations, is always mortal or material. This world likewise accepts a theology which is supposed to be quite apart from science, and indeed until recently it was considered little less than blasphemous to couple theology and science. It may well be asked: If science is not akin to Christianity or Christliness is it of any value to humanity and indeed is it not anti-Christian unless based on spiritual facts? Also if theology is not related to science can it possibly be true, for to be true it must be scientific, since the word science means only exact knowledge? These material views of science and theology have naturally evolved a healing system which is based wholly on material theories and which its own advocates would hardly claim to be an exact science. Indeed many of its most ardent adherents have themselves frequently denied that the material drugging system is in any way an exact science.

The conscientious mortal then must face the fact that he is to-day basing his existence, his salvation and his happiness on three things; first on a science which only pertains to material conditions and never to spiritual facts, second on a theology which does not claim to be scientific or exact, and third on a healing system which is neither spiritual nor truly scientific. What a picture of materialism this is for humanity to face after thousands of years of human effort! It is true that many of the thinking people of to-day are deeply troubled at the evidence that theology, or our systems of salvation, seems to save from so little, and that the material healing systems have to stand helplessly by whilst men and women are devastated by epidemics and by a host of so-called incurable diseases. Also that the efforts of material science have in many cases been utilized not for the benefit of men, but for the destruction of men through the most horrible methods of warfare. Is humanity never to stop and consider these indisputable facts seriously? Shall men forever persist in their course of materialism, remaining content to believe that these things must be so and that there is no permanent and fundamental remedy for human woes?

Science.

Christian Science, on the other hand, teaches that there is an exact Science which is true to Christ and Christianity, that there is a theology which is wholly scientific or true, and that there is a divine healing method which is both Christlike and scientific. These three, this Science, this theology and this healing method, Christian Science declares to be eternal, ever-present, demonstrable facts of being, for they are the Science of Life, the theology of Spirit, and the healing method of Truth. Christian Science teaches that these are the divine systems which Jesus lived and labored to reveal to mankind. In fact these are the systems which all reformers have perceived dimly and have labored to reveal to men. Christian Science utterly refutes the suggestion that reformers such as Abraham or Moses, Luther or Wesley were striving to bring to humanity some indefinite and impracticable idealism. It declares without hesitation that they perceived and understood to some extent only real Science, the absolute Science of spiritual being, which explains God's true nature and the relationship of true being to God, the only true theology, the exact, scientific, saving and redeeming effect of Truth upon human thought, and the only true healing method, the infinite ability of spiritual understanding or of spiritual thinking to deliver from the diseases of mortal thought and experience. Christian Science teaches that these are also the divine systems which are revealed and outlined throughout the Scriptures, and that the Bible is no fairy story, but is when its teachings are properly understood, the book of absolute Science of pure theology and of scientific healing. Christ Jesus the Saviour of men foresaw and foretold that these three systems revealing the eternal facts of being should some day appear to humanity in all their certainty and science. This appearing he foretold as the coming of "the Spirit of truth." (John 16, 13) and Christian Scientists know that to-day there has been revealed to humanity that for which men have prayed and suffered, that for which they have lived and died and for which they have been willing to sacrifice all. This blessed thing is the absolute Truth about God and about existence, which expresses itself through divine Science, and which Mary Baker Eddy has discovered in this age and founded.

Truly has Whittier written—

"Oh, sometimes gleams upon our sight,
Through present wrong, th' eternal Right;
And step by step, since time began,
We see the steady gain of man.
That all of good the past hath had
Remains to make our own time glad,
Our common, daily life divine,
And ev'ry land a Palestine.
"Thro' the harsh noises of our day,
A low sweet prelude finds its way;
Thro' clouds of doubt, and creeds of fear,
A light is breaking calm and clear
"Henceforth my heart shall sigh no more
For olden time and holier shore:
God's love and blessing, then and there,
Are now and here and ev'rywhere."
(Christian Science Hymnal, p. 13.)

Theology.

Christian Scientists recognize that they are only beginners in the understanding of the Science of Christianity and they do not claim to be absolute and complete demonstrators of this Science. In fact they freely admit that there has only been one perfect demonstrator of Christian Science and that is Jesus the Christ. They do know, however, that God has revealed to the world through Mary Baker Eddy, this divine Science, the Science of the Christ which includes in itself all true Science, theology and medicine. They also know that as their fellow men and women understand and accept this Science that its accomplishments in the way of healing and saving will be even greater than they are at present, and will indeed be so overwhelmingly conclusive that no man will be able to doubt the origin of this Science as being divine. It cannot be too frequently affirmed that Christian Scientists have no quarrel with their fellow religionists, with their friends who believe that science is wholly material or with their medical friends. Indeed Christian Scientists desire to have the greatest love and respect for every one of their fellow men, no matter what their religious, scientific or medical opinions. Let the critic of Christian Science who thinks that Christian Scientists are attacking his particular system, because they are declaring the Science of Christ, remember that there are on earth to-day some millions of people who at one time believed that Christian Science was trying to take something essential from them through its teachings, but who now gladly acknowledge that they also have found in Christian Science more than they ever hoped for in the way of holiness, happiness and health.

God and His Creation

Let me then invite you to consider this Science of the Christ which embodies, and is based wholly on the idealism of Christ Jesus. As Christian Science pertains wholly to God and to His creation or to true being, it is of course necessary for us to consider what God is before we can proceed.

Popular theology has regarded God as a distant being to be sought, in times of need, through prayer. These prayers, in a few instances, seemed to be answered but in the majority of cases they remain unanswered. Material science has, with its material theories, removed God even farther from the ken of mortals, and material healing systems have educated thought to consider God as a being who works through material processes. Christian Science takes exactly the opposite view. Christian Science declares that God is an ever-present divine reality, who is ever available to His own creation and is infinitely knowable. His presence and power, Christian Science teaches, are essential to every right activity and consequently to all health, holiness or happiness, and to all true existence. God, Christian Science also teaches, has nothing in common with materiality, but He and His creation, exist independent of suppositional matter and its so-called laws. In fact Christian Science teaches that God is the source and cause of all that is true and, therefore, of true existence.

The Scriptures use several terms for God which all Christians have accepted but which few Christians have understood practically and intelligently. Mrs. Eddy has applied these same terms to God, but she has logically accepted the conclusions about God which these terms indicate. For instance, the Scriptures teach that God is Love, but they also teach that God is Spirit, consequently Mrs. Eddy has concluded that Love is Spirit and therefore that Love is not to be found in material conditions. Also the Scriptures declare that Spirit or God is infinite and Christian Science likewise logically concludes that matter, or material existence, is not the truth of being. In the same way the Scriptures teach that God is the only cause and creator and Christian Science therefore accepts the fact that the only real or true existence there is or can be, must be the emanation or expression of this one and only cause, God. As God is immutable and is without shadow of turning, His creation must be an emanation or expression of immutable Spirit and must consequently be wholly spiritual.

God as Divine Mind.

It is evident to anyone who has studied the Scriptures closely that when Jesus declared God to be Spirit he was not declaring God to be some indefinite abstraction, but he was revealing and describing the most stable entity that could possibly be imagined—Mrs. Eddy has once and for all taken this word Spirit out of the realm of mysticism and superstition and placed it in the realm of reason and science by explaining that Spirit is really divine Mind, or is the infinite Intelligence which knows, and knows divinely or truly. It is certain that when Jesus used the term Spirit he meant divine Mind, for on one occasion he explained quite naturally to his listeners "the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, . . ." (John 6, 63). In fact infinite Truth, which includes all divine mentality, is Spirit. Christian Science, therefore, teaches that God is divine Mind or Spirit and that divine Mind is Love. As God is everpresent and omnipotent, the divine Mind which is Love must therefore be the only Mind. Also divine Mind and its right mental activity must be omnipotent and irresistible. Even if one did not believe in the Scriptures and he reasoned logically he would naturally arrive at these same conclusions. Material existence shows that evil is destructive and that material conditions pass away. Therefore being, to be eternal, must be spiritual and wholly good. Jesus in his teachings frequently tried to show men that Spirit could not produce matter, and he was simply explaining the great metaphysical and scientific fact that God is the only cause and that existence must be exactly like that cause and so wholly spiritual, and not what the human senses declared it to be when he uttered such a statement as "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit." (John 3, 6.)

Mrs. Eddy has summoned up the essence of her teachings in a short statement which she calls the "scientific statement of being." This statement is given on page 468 of her text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and is as follows:—"There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter. All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all. Spirit is immortal Truth; matter is mortal error. Spirit is the real and eternal; matter is the unreal and temporal. Spirit is God, and man is his image and likeness. Therefore man is not material; he is spiritual." As time goes on it will be found that in this statement lies the crux of all true Science, theology and medicine.

Human Systems.

Here then we have the following conclusions:—

(1) The physical scientist believes that existence is finite and material and his thinking relates wholly to so-called material substances and their actions. The Christian Scientist declares that true existence is absolutely spiritual or divinely mental. Is wholly in and of God, or Spirit, and his thinking relates to divine facts.

(2) The theologian of to-day offers an indefinite concept of God as a distant indescribable Being, whose power and presence are sometimes manifested in extraordinary or miraculous ways to deliver men from evil or to plague them with evil, and who manifests Himself through material conditions. Christian Science on the other hand, teaches that God is divine Mind and that this Mind is Love. Also that this one Mind which is Love is most truly understandable and is ever available to men through right mental activity or spiritual thinking. Christian Science further teaches that this One infinite Mind, God, forever operates through spiritual thinking to deliver men from all that is unlike Himself. In fact Christian Science teaches that the divine Mind, God, operates not through material conditions, but to deliver from material conditions.

(3) The material healing systems of to-day rely on non-intelligent material drugs for health, which drugs express the contrary of the nature of God, or Spirit, and the effects of which are highly uncertain. These healing systems also teach that God or Spirit works through material means. Christian Science, on the other hand, teaches that disease is an effect of mortal thought and of false medical laws and opinions, and that acquaintance with God, the one and only Mind brings into operation the true healing law, the law of God, or of divine Mind which frees from the mortal mind and its diseased beliefs. In fact, the three material systems deal with both matter and Spirit as realities, co-operating and coalescing. Christian Science, however, declares there is but one reality, namely Spirit, God, divine Mind and its expression; also that material existence is but a temporal falsity which only seems real to the mortal or carnal thought. Christian Science further declares that an understanding of God and of spiritual being will deliver from mortal thought or from the carnal mind and from its dream, mortality. This absolute, invariable understanding or spiritual thinking is what the Scriptures describe as the Mind of Christ, or the Mind which was in Jesus Christ.

I would ask you to consider seriously whether the Christian Scientist is less intelligent, less scientific, less cultured, or less Christian, because he devotes his time and energies wholly to the effort of attaining the Mind of Christ and to understanding the divine Mind, God, and His spiritual creation, rather than to the study of fleeting material conditions which have no true science, no stability, no actual law and no divine reality? It must be admitted that it is the lack of this very spiritual thinking which has caused mankind to wander so far from the understanding of divine law and divine realities, and to wallow in the mire of material intellectualism in which there is and can be no real Science, no divine theology, and no true healing. It must also be admitted that it is through divine communion, that mankind will be led out of the byways of materialism and will be awakened to the great spiritual and scientific fact of the infinite, ever-present God, divine Mind, one infinite, indestructible creation, absolute spiritual being, never beginning never ending, but perfect and eternal as the Father Himself. It is also in this study that the truly wise man will find his solace and comfort, that the true intellectual man will find his joy, and that the true reformer will discover man's infinite ability to help and to heal his fellow-man.

Christian Science Prayer.

How, then, is the Science of Christ, or Christian Science, which includes in itself all true Science, theology, and medicine, going to reveal to men the truth of being which Science should reveal, the saving and redeeming theology which alone can deliver humanity from sin, and the healing grace which alone heals. One of the greatest aids to the understanding and demonstration of this Science of being, is prayer. What a wealth of deep and consecrated thought that word prayer stirs in us all. As long as the word prayer exists, human hope can never be entirely lost. Then is the Christian Scientist who depends so largely on prayer, not in accord with humanity's purest and highest desires? It is true that prayer has been so misunderstood and misused that much of its effulgence and true meaning has been lost, but even yet no word means more to poor sick and suffering humanity than does this word prayer. What then is the prayer of a Christian Scientist? It is not a spasmodic attempt to perform the impossible, that is to change or to influence the immutable, divine Mind, God, who is always Love. It is not an attempt to obtain from Deity something that we do not deserve in order that we may continue on our material course. Neither is it an attempt to deliver ourselves from sickness, from poverty, from worry, nor from any vicissitude of human experience simply in order that we may be free from pain and trouble.

The prayer of a Christian Scientist is his constant, conscious, unremitting mental desire to live above the mortal and in accord with the divine. It is his unceasing attempt to commune with the divine Mind, God, and so to utilize the true Science which reveals true existence, the true theology which inevitably delivers from sin, and the true healing power which always heals disease. The Christian Scientist's prayer is his persistent daily and hourly affirmation of divine Mind's infinite presence and power, and of evil's nothingness. It is his increasing knowledge of God and of absolute spiritual being, and before this the so-called carnal mind and its falsities of sense, material existence, sin, disease, and death grow fainter and finally disappear. This is the prayer of which Paul speaks as praying without ceasing. True prayer is one of the tenderest, most certain, most scientific and most intelligent things on earth or in heaven. The Christian Scientist's prayer is, in fact, his spiritual thinking and living, or his right mental activity. When a man thinks rightly he is expressing his true being as the likeness of God, divine Mind. Spiritual thinking is, therefore, really Immanuel, or God with us. Just as soon as a man recognizes that his constant right thinking and right living, or his right mental activity, that is his true consciousness, is indeed Immanuel, or divine Mind, God, with us, he at that moment begins to understand why true prayer is infallible and is infinite in its ability to reveal divine facts which save and heal. Thinking divinely, or having the Mind of Christ, is attaining somewhat to man in God's image, the true and only man, the man God made, the man who is forever an expression or emanation of God, to whom belongs dominion over all material things.

Prayer is as infallible, as certain, as definite and as irresistible as God Himself, for it is God, divine Mind, with us, expressing Himself through the Mind of Christ, or through spiritual thinking. Such prayer knows no failure and no fear. It honors God in a way that a poor attempt to change or influence God can never do. Prayer recognizes and abides by God's allness and evil's nothingness. This is the prayer Jesus described when he stated, in accord with all true science, all true theology, and all true medicine, "ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." (John viii., 32). Prayer demands absolute life-long consecration of thought, desire, activity, intellect and purpose to spiritual law and divine facts. It teaches us to acknowledge God in all our ways and to recognize no other source or cause. Prayer demonstrated is heaven here and now and within us, for it includes in itself all health, all holiness, happiness, peace and assurance. Such prayer is God's law to every condition, for it is the very presence and power of divine Mind, God.

It might be well to explain that Christian Scientists make much of the healing of disease for the same reason that Jesus did, and that is because the healing of disease through spiritual means is accepted as a clear and indisputable proof of Immanuel, or God with us. As a matter of fact, Christian Science teaches that what humanity really needs to be healed of primarily, is its faith in things material, or of its material thinking. Every sin, every disease every sorrow, every material condition, every catastrophe, every phase of fleeting mortality, Christian Science declares to be out an effect of material thinking, or of the carnal mind, and Christian Science therefore proposes to heal the individual and the world of these things by first correcting their material thinking, or their false material theories with the Mind of Christ, or with spiritual thinking. The real mission of Christian Science, therefore, is to destroy men's false faith in things material by demonstrating beyond a doubt the allness and supremacy of Spirit or of the divine Mind, which is God.

Let me remind you that the Christian Scientist's prayer does not succeed because of a merely intellectual attempt to know the Truth at the moment of prayer, but it succeeds because of his life-long struggle to understand God and spiritual being, and to utilize divine Science in every event of life. Even the casual thinker will see that there is no connection between such prayer which understands and demonstrates the infinite presence and power of the Mind which is God and the pitiful attempts of mesmerism, or of hypnotism, to heal men. Christian Science healing dispels the mortal or mistaken sick or sinning sense which claims to bind man, and proves the divine fact that God, divine Mind, is the only Mind, and that this Mind alone governs and controls man.

Christlikeness.

Christ Jesus, the master Metaphysician, when he made the statement, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends" (John xv., 13), gave an exact rule by which men could prove their Christlikeness, or their willingness and ability to demonstrate divine law. Christian Science, therefore, teaches that in proportion as a man understands the allness and the infinite reality of Spirit, God, divine Mind and the temporal nature of material existence, in proportion as he strives to lay down his false sense of life as material and finite, and to attain his true life as God's expression, wholly spiritual or divinely mental in that proportion is he truly adhering to Christ Jesus' teaching. In fact, as a man banishes from his thinking the qualities of the carnal mind such as idolatry, hatred, wrath, and many other phases of the carnal mind, all of which Paul describes as "the works of the flesh" (Gal. v.), and as he attains in his daily life those qualities of thought which Paul describes as "the fruit of the Spirit" (Gal. v.), then he is truly laying down false sense of life. This process of spiritual thinking and living demonstrates the infinite presence and power of the divine Mind, God, before which the so-called carnal mind, with its false mental conditions and its materiality, gives place. Paul further says, "the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance:" (Gal. v.), and he adds: "against such there is no law." (Gal. v.) A Christian Scientist, therefore, finds that as he strives to let his thinking and his life express these divine qualities, or as he strives to gain the Mind of Christ, the qualities of the so-called carnal mind and their effects, sin, disease and death lose their suppositional presence and power in his thinking and in his life.

The Effect of Prayer.

The Christian Scientist recognizing that disease is always the effect of false mortal law and of false thinking destroys disease through spiritual thinking or right thinking about God and about His creation. This spiritual thinking combined with the desire to know God and to overcome the qualities of the carnal mind in our thoughts and lives, constitutes true prayer, and this prayer reveals to men the Science of the Christ which includes all true Science, theology and medicine. Furthermore, as a man understands this Science of the Christ and strives to live it, so that he may demonstrate it both for himself and for his fellow men, he is obeying Jesus' command as given to Peter, "Feed my sheep" (John xxi., 17), for it is only through the understanding of divine law as revealed in the teachings of Christ Jesus that men are going to be delivered from evil. Humanity does not need to be fed any longer on the husks of material theories, for it has already been overfed on them, but it does need to be fed on the divine facts which Jesus revealed to men and demonstrated for their benefit. These facts lived and practised in their purity and Science must eventually deliver mankind from all evil.

It is sometimes objected that Christian Scientists are establishing an unnatural antipathy between the flesh or the material, and the spiritual, because they teach the infinite allness and supremacy of Spirit, God, divine Mind, and the temporal nature of materiality. To such objections one need only quote Paul's statement that "the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other:" (Gal. v. 17). Mrs. Eddy, however, although teaching the allness of Spirit, particularly states that Christ is the friend of mortal man (Science and Health, p. 433). and this because Christ saves mortal man from himself by revealing man's true nature as the son of God. The effect of prayer in Christian Science is not to deprive men of anything that is worth having, but to remove materiality and its effects sin, disease and death from their thoughts and experience and to establish in their thoughts true health, holiness and happiness which are eternally based on God, divine Mind, and are attained only through spiritual thinking.

Fear Cast Out.

Christian Science handles all mortal discord with divine law. If the mortal discord be poverty, if it be accident, if it be worry or sorrow, if it be human trouble of any kind, the Christian Scientist recognizes that these things can only afflict the mortal mentality because the body without a mentality would be unconscious of any of these things. Recognizing that these are all troubles of the carnal mind or of mortal thought, he deals with them through divine thought or the Mind of Christ. The wise Christian Scientist in his prayer, or his treatment, will always deal resolutely and unfailingly with the human belief of fear. As he gains experience in Christian Science healing he will find that fear is an active agent in nearly every human ill, and in most cases if he succeeds in removing and casting out the fear from his patient's mentality he will heal him of his trouble at once. Since God, the only presence and power, is divine Love, fear can have neither presence nor power and the Christian Scientist through understanding the allness of divine Love proves that "perfect love (or God) casteth out fear." (I John iv. 18).

Spiritual thinking, that is a right understanding of God and of existence or spiritual idealism, is not only the way of salvation for the individual, but humanity as a whole owes every step it has taken out of materialism to this very process of spiritual thinking. As humanity has turned thought actively and unreservedly, not to the things which are seen, but to the things which are not seen, and which are divinely real, then it truly has prayed, and this prayer has to some extent delivered from mortality and from the effects of mortality, sin, disease death and limitation of every kind. Since salvation, however, is individual, the important factor is the consecrated thinking of the individual.

True Law and Government.

All thinking people recognize that we are to-day living at a time when humanity's sense of divine law has not sufficed to deliver it from war, from bolshevism, from class hatred, and from other dangerous tendencies. The fact is that humanity is still working on the old basis of the Mosaic law, which says an eye for an eye, and men have not yet been able to perceive and to demonstrate the law of Love which Jesus declared and reiterated time and time again to be the only way of freedom from human unrest. Mrs Eddy has revealed to her followers that just as health and holiness are divine facts which the individual must obtain and retain for himself through spiritual thinking, so also law is a divine attribute which every individual must demonstrate for himself. Thus the community will obtain law and government based, not on human opinions, but on universal obedience to the one divine Mind, God. Mrs. Eddy was so certain of the fact that true government is based wholly on spiritual thinking and not on human arrangements that in her own Church which she considered to be all-important, since she knew that it was destined to bring the idealism of Jesus to humanity in a clearer and more practical way than ever before, she established a form of government from which she had removed every possible human equation except a Board of Directors of five people. These Directors she did not expect to govern her Church, but they were to transact the business of her Church. The government of her Church she left to the attainment and demonstration of divine government by the individuals comprising that Church. In the same way that she expected her followers to demonstrate the divine fact of ever-present health, just so she laid upon them the onus of demonstrating ever-present divine law. She also laid upon them the restriction of not interfering with the government of that Church in any human way, because she had no faith in human ways and means. In fact, Mrs. Eddy realized so clearly the necessity for demonstrating divine law in her Church and in human affairs, that she devoted one of her books entirely to the subject, and this book is known as the Manual of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. Mrs. Eddy knew that the by-laws in this Manual were divinely inspired, and that they were therefore unalterable. She writes of this book: "Notwithstanding the sacrilegious moth of time, eternity awaits our Church Manual, which will maintain its rank as in the past, amid ministries aggressive and active, and will stand when those have passed to rest." (The First Church of Christ Scientist & Miscellany, page 230, 1-4). The demonstration of divine law by the individual is the only pure democracy, for in it every man has an equal right to bring into operation true law and power through his unlimited God-given ability to express the divine Mind, God, as the result of his spiritual thinking or of having the Mind of Christ. This demonstration of government through spiritual idealism alone can deliver humanity from war, distrust among nations, greed, hatred, injustice, and other national and class dangers and divisions. The individual who recognizes and lives the divine fact that God is Love is praying aright, and his prayer will remove hate and war from among men, just as surely as light destroys darkness. Until men recognize and live these eternal facts, war, sin, disease, death, unrest and evil of every kind will continue among mortals.

Idealism of Jesus.

My friends, we Christian Scientists are declaring no new and strange doctrine to you, we are simply reiterating that the spiritual idealism of Christ Jesus is real and true, that it is scientific in the highest sense, that it is truly theological and infallible in its healing effect. Christian Scientists have in fact, learned that the only way of deliverance from evil or mortal woe of any kind is spiritual thinking or the divine idealism which Jesus revealed to mankind. You may not at this time be ready or willing to accept or to admit these things, but I want to say to you with all respect, but with absolute assurance, that you and every human being must eventually accept, live, and prove this teaching, for there is no other way of salvation and there is no other way of attaining heaven or of being freed from mortality. Let me therefore advise you to study the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, and see if it does not make the Bible a new book, a more sacred book to you.

Mary Baker Eddy.

One earnest, consecrated thinker, a loving, lovable woman, Mary Baker Eddy, has accomplished these things for humanity in her day. It is not possible for me to speak as I would desire of Mrs. Eddy and of all that I owe to her. If there is to-day anything that is good, that is pure, that is healthy, or that is God-like in my life, I owe it to the consecrated thought and life of Mary Baker Eddy, and millions are telling this same story. It is true that one only begins fully to appreciate Mrs. Eddy and her lifework as he understands and demonstrates Christian Science, although a great multitude of men and women who are not Christian Scientists have also recognized Mrs. Eddy's great contribution to the salvation of humanity. Mrs. Eddy not only discovered Christian Science, but as the result of years of struggle and toil she founded it on a practical, demonstrable basis. No forward step in this great Movement has ever been taken but as the result of her initiative and advice, and every step initiated by her was the result of deep and consecrated prayer. Christian Scientists regard Mrs. Eddy as God's messenger to this age, and they know that through her revelation many of them have been delivered from sin and disease, and even from death. Think what this world of ours will be like when more of us are enabled and emboldened to put away our material theories and dependencies and to rely wholly on the divine Mind, God, operating in human experience through spiritual thinking or through true prayer. Then will sin and sorrow vanish from men's thoughts, then will pain be stilled and the dread of disease be cast out, then will the lame man leap with joy and the leper be cleansed, then will war cease and the reign of divine Love be established. These very things are indeed being accomplished to some extent to-day, but the harvest is still great and the laborers few. We Christian Scientists, therefore, long for the time when our fellow men and women shall recognize the all-importance of spiritual things and come to work and to pray in this vineyard with us. Then will be fully established the reign of true Science, the Science of Christ, the true theology, the theology of divine Mind in God and the true healing, the healing through the understanding of the complete spiritual facts of being. Then will all men gladly recognize Mary Baker Eddy as indeed God's messenger.

In conclusion, let me draw your attention to the fact that Christian Science is not an easy path for the loose thinker but is the way for the simple and consecrated as well as for the profound thinker. Such thinkers find peace and joy, health and life in divine facts, or in knowing God and true being, and it is through such thinking that the individual, as well as humanity as a whole, is going to be enabled to understand and prove that,—

"There's a wideness in God's mercy,
Like the wideness of the sea,
There's a kindness in His justice,
Which is more than liberty.

"For the love of God is broader
Than is seen by human mind,
And the heart of the Eternal
Is most wonderfully kind:

"If our love were but more simple
We should take Him at His word;
And our lives would be all sunshine
In the sweetness of our Lord."
(Christian Science Hymnal, p. 236.)

BROTHERS ELOPE; HELD BY POLICE

Cabaret Entertainers Arrested After Wedding on Charge of Beating Bill.

OMAHA, May 5.—A few hours after they arrived from Papillion, Neb., where they had eloped with two Council Bluffs girls Alfred and Kenneth Selz, 21 and 22, cabaret entertainers of Minneapolis, took "French leave" via the fire escape, to avoid a $14.50 bill at the Edwards hotel, according to the story they told at the city jail.

The brides, the boys said, were Miss Virginia Funderburg, 18, and Ione Puryear, 19, Council Bluffs.

In jail with the brothers is Howard Scott, 21, who said he came to Omaha with them from Minneapolis.

The Selz brothers, known as "The Two Spiders," have been entertaining at the Vogue cabaret, they said.

"Our folks have money," said Kenneth. "We are expecting a check from them and intended to go back and pay the bill."

The three were arrested at another hotel where they had engaged rooms.

"It was now or never," said the brothers of their elopment. "We met the girls in Minneapolis a year ago, we liked them and thought we might as well get married."

They are charged with defrauding an innkeeper.

Flessner Says He Knows Nothing of Death of Howard

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., May 5.—George Flessener, charged with the murder of Joshua Howard last Sunday, was arraigned in county court and upon a plea of not guilty his hearing was set for May 8. Flessner still maintains that he knows nothing of the killing of Howard.

The prisoners in the county jail say that Flessner appears unconcerned over the murder charge; that he sleeps well and will talk to them.

ENGLISH PREMIER TO USE PINCHERS TO SWING FRANCE

Paris Government Must Bow to Lloyd-George or Pay Debt.

Demand Will Not Permit of Delay if France Sticks to Belgians.

(International News Service.)

GENOA, May 5.—Inter-allied war debts loomed up today as the club with which Premier Lloyd George of England is trying to swing France back into line in the international economic conference. It is learned that the British premier has conveyed a clear warning to France that she must choose between Belgium and Britain in her future attitude towards Russia.

Lloyd George is said to have notified France that if she continues to back up Belgium's opposition to Article VII of the allied declaration of Russian conditions there will be little opportunity for Sir Basil Black's debt plan being adopted. On the contrary Britain will insist that every nation pay up its war debts and be punctual about it.

Lloyd George is said to have made it plain that he will not allow Belgium to wreck the conference because of the recalcitrant attitude towards Russia.

Germans Press Soviets.

The German delegation today began to exert friendly but urgent pressure upon the Russians to have them accept the allied conditions for recognition of the Moscow soviet government. The Germans are doing this partly because they feel it is an opportunity to make new eastern friends by steering a moderate course, and partly because Premier Lloyd George has made it plain to Chancellor Wirth and Foreign Secretary Walter Rathenau that he expected German assistance in persuading the Russians to accept the allied statement of conditions.

It is understood that in return the British premier promised to see what he could do for Germany on the indemnity question and will strive for any solution of the problem short of invasion which is threatened by Premier Poincare of France.

In spite of the friendly efforts to Germany there seemed little likelihood today that the Russians will accept the allied conditions in the shape in which they were made.

The soviet delegation realizes that unconditional acceptance of the allied condition would be a death blow to their system.

MORE ROMANCE READY TO BLOOM

(International News Service.)

CHICAGO, May 5—The McCormick family barricaded itself behind closed doors today and refused to discuss three romances said to be budding within the family circle.

Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, and divorced wife of Harold F. McCormick, millionaire farm implement maker, refused to dignify by a denial reports that she is to wed Edward Krenn, a Swiss architect now in Chicago. Through her secretary she sent word that she "did not care what the newspapers print about the matter."

Krenn rebuffed questioners with the declaration that "it is too personal a matter to discuss."

Harold F. McCormick likewise maintained silence in regard to reports that he would wed Mme. Ganna Walska, Polish opera singer, when she obtains a divorce from Alexander Smith Cochran. He refused to amplify a previous statement that he was "not interested in Mme. Walska's divorce."

Mathilde McCormick, 17-year-old daughter of the household, sent word she would see no more reporters who sought to question her regarding reports of an estrangement with her middle-aged Swiss fiance, Max Oser.

Wednesday Miss McCormick declared she would wed Oser just as soon as she can return to Switzerland.

DISORDERS DYING DOWN IN IRELAND

Truce Begins to Have Effect But Tense Situation Still Remains.

(International News Service.)

DUBLIN, May 5.—Disorders died down in Ireland today as a result of the truce between the Free Staters and the republicans, but a tense situation exists. It is feared fighting will continue despite the armistice.

Seven persons—four republicans and three Free Staters—were killed in a battle at Newton Cunningham in consequence of a mistake. The Free Staters knowing that a truce had been negotiated, halted a party of republicans to apprise them of the fact. The republicans, not knowing of the armistice, opened fire.

The Free Staters returned the fire and a pitched battle developed.

Several were wounded in addition to the killed.

Advices from Belfast said that regulars and irregulars are facing each other along the Ulster frontier and it is evident that it would require little effort to start a battle. Some disorders have taken place along the northern boundary, but responsible leaders of both factions are attempting to hold the men in line.

Blow Up Barracks.

(Associated Press.)

DUBLIN, May 5.—The barracks at Castle Pollard, Westmeath, were blown up by irregular forces who destroyed the Mullingar barracks Wednesday. The irregulars were pursued from Mullingar to Castle Pollard by provisional government forces and the barracks were blown up to prevent their occupation.

Two of the men who raided the bank at Buncrana, County Donegal, were shot dead.

A 9-year-old girl, one of the civilians wounded during the fighting, died of her injuries.

CROKER FUNERAL SIMPLE SERVICE

Remains Buried Upon Estate Where Deceased Spent Last Years of Life.

(International News Service.)

GLENCAIRN CASTLE, Ireland, May 5.—In the presence of only a handful of mourners the remains of Richard Croker, former leader of Tammany in New York City, were buried here today upon the estate where the deceased had spent the last years of his life breeding blooded horses.

The coffin was borne upon the shoulders of half a dozen Irish workmen. It was placed in a sealed vault which had been built some time ago under the personal direction of Mr. Croker.

Requiem mass was celebrated in the little chapel upon the Croker estate by the Rev. Father Kelly. During the ceremony Mrs. Croker, the widow, and her brother knelt beside the bronz casket. Most of the remainder of the persons present were newspaper reporters and employes on the Croker estate.

The whole ceremony was marked by the same simplicity with which the former Tammany leader had lived during the latter years of his life.

Mrs. Croker is expected to return to the United States to live.

Mr. Croker's daughter Ethel, arrived from England for the funeral. Among the floral offerings were wreaths from Ethel and Mr. Croker's son, Richard, jr. Mrs. Croker almost collapsed at the grave. One of the honorary pallbearers was Arthur Griggith, president of dail eireann.

ARREST RECALLS REMARKABLE CASE

Wife's Devotion Sensational Feature of Escaped Man's Career of Crime.

(Associated Press.)

MUSCOGEE, Okla., May 5.—The report of the arrest at Tucson, Ariz., of Paul Hadley, escaped life termer, from the Oklahoma state penitentiary, recalled today one of the most sensational criminal cases in the history of local courts, marked throughout by the devotion of a wife who, after being exonerated of a murder charge on which her husband was convicted, committed another offense in order to be with him in his confinement.

Hadley was first taken into custody at Kansas City, Mo., March 20, 1916, for alleged grand larceny, in Texas.

After many tearful pleas, Mrs. Hadley persuaded Sheriff W. J. Giles of Beaumont, Tex., to allow her to accompany her husband to Texas to face his accusers.

While they were enroute to Texas, Mrs. Hadley shot Sheriff Giles from behind, killing him instantly. Hadley then procured the officer's revolver, brought the train to a stop and held off the passengers and crew until he and his wife escaped. Both were apprehended the next day.

Their joint trial attracted nation wide attention. Hadley was convicted of slaying the sheriff and sentenced to life imprisonment. His wife was acquitted on a plea of insanity. Later she was sentenced to ten years imprisonment when she broke jail. At the same time, she told authorities that she had not intention of fleeing, but wanted to commit an offense that would send her to the penitentiary so she could be near her husband.

More than a year ago, Hadley was granted a ten day leave of absence to visit his sick mother. He never returned and his whereabouts had been a mystery until his capture at Tucson.

DEMPSEY TO FIGHT "CARP" IF LATTER DEFEATS KID LEWIS

WAITS ON RESULT OF LONDON FIGHT

Dempsey to Meet "Carp" if Latter Wins His Scrap With Lewis.

(Associated Press.)

PARIS, May 5.—Jack Dempsey told the Associated Press today it was almost certain he would meet Georges Carpentier again in London or Paris late this year if Carpentier defeated Ted Lewis in London May 11, and provided the purse is satisfactory.

The posting of forfeits and other details, Dempsey added, are being discussed in London by Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, and Francois Deschamps, manager of Carpentier.

Definite arrangements however, are awaiting the outcome of the Lewis-Carpentier fight. Dempsey asserted it was immaterial to him whether he met Williard before or after his go with the Frenchman.

"I am also ready to meet Wills or anyone else, provided they mean business," said Dumpsey. "I hope something definite will come out of all these offers. All I want is a few months' training. I've been Europe and had a fine rest, and am now anxious to get back to work. I shall leave Paris for London Tuesday and shall probably sail for New York May 13."

Dempsey denounced as pure nonsense the reports linking his name with an actress which has been much in the public eye of late. He also denied recent reports that he was going to marry a French girl.

"All the reports about that," he said, "are pure bunk. As I have already told you my heart is in America, where it is held tightly by an American girl. I'm afraid my girl in America will be jealous if she reads all these yarns about my going around with French girls and will make me do some tall explaining when I get home."

RULING HELD UP IN ZIEGENBEIN CASE

Illness of Husker Faculty Man Compels Delay in Rendering Decision.

No decision has been rendered in the tangle involving the eligibility of Rudolph Zeigenbein, pitcher and infielder on the University of Nebraska baseball team. Action by the Cornhusker athletic authorities has been held up by the illness of Dean Engberg, member of the faculty committee on eligibility.

Request by the Nebraska committee to the Missouri Valley conference that the latter rule on the Ziegenbein case brought wire responses which indicate that, in the judgment of the conference authorities, Ziegenbein had not violated a specific conference rule in signing a contract to pursue the diamond sport with the Hastings club of the Nebraska State league, following the close of the school year at Nebraska. In other words, the conference has no rule on its statute books which covers the Ziegenbein case.

The Nebraska faculty committee will take action, one way or the other, but a decision must be deferred until after Dean Engberg is able to meet with that committee.

Pending a formal ruling by the Nebraska committee, Zeigenbein will play ball with the Cornhuskers in the two-game series with the Kansas Aggies, beginning Friday afternoon at Rock Island park. The Saturday game is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

FANS OF SEWARD COMING IN FORCE

Team Supporters Preparing to Invade Capital City for Sunday Game.

Seward baseball bugs are coming in force to Lincoln Sunday for the Seward-Lincoln diamond rumpus at Landis Field. A. C. Bek, secretary of the Seward Baseball association, was a Friday visitor at the headquarters of the Lincoln State league club and spread the information that every flivver in the Seward county metropolis would be pressed into service to bring the Seward team's supporters to the capital city.

Janacek, twirler for Seward, showed mid-season form in trimming Milford last Sunday and the Seward pitcher is touted to give Manager Buck Beltzer's Lincoln leaguers something to ponder over in the Sunday encounter. The Sunday fray at Landis Field is scheduled to get under way at 3 p. m.

Manager Buck's squad worked out Thursday afternoon on Landis Field, two teams squaring off in a nine-inning combat. House, pitching recruit from the outhwestern association, and Comiskey, first-sacker from the same loop, were in action. House flashed so much smoke and pitching ability that the 200 or more local fans who witnessed the workout decided almost unanimously that the former Bartlesville pill hurler has State league goods. Comiskey's clouting was one of the features. The new candidate for the first corner connected for four safe blows.

HUSKERS DEPART FOR KANSAS MEET

Nebraska Tracksters Clash With the Jayhawkers at Lawrence Saturday.

The University of Nebraska track squad was scheduled to leave Lincoln early Friday afternoon for Lawrence, Kas., where the Huskers will meet the Jayhawkers Saturday in a dual meet.

The dual meet with Kansas is expected to be one of the hardest on the University of Nebraska schedule. The Kansas squad won the Missouri Valley indoor meet and is a favorite in Valley circles to repeat in the outdoor meet.

With Bradley his main point-getter, Coach Schlademan of Kansas has a strong aggregation and Coach Schulte is not overly enthusiastic about bringing home a victory.

NONE ENTITLED TO WEAR MAT CROWN

Curley's Trust Clique Foxy as Ever in Evading Issue With Plestina.

BY AL SPINK.

The season of professional wrestling in America has come to an end, and it has developed nothing, nor has it proved just who is the greatest and best man in the wrestling line.

At the beginning of the wrestling year, friends of Marin Plestina of Chicago and Stanislaus Zybszko of New York claimed the championship for each man and challenges were bandied back and forth by their manager and friends, but nothing has come of the bantering.

It seems strange that their rival managers have been unable to bring about a match between these two, but the fact remains that they have never been able to reach any sort of an agreement.

Once it looked as though Zbyszko and Plestina were going to get together and settle the world's wrestling championship for all time.

But just when the chances seemed best for a meeting, Zybszko conveniently lost the championship to Strangler Lewis and the latter, being a member of the same trust as the man he had beaten, Plestina's plea for a chance at the championship was again ignored.

Turned Down by "Trust."

Every year, for the last five years, Plestina and his manager have invaded New York, the stronghold of the "trust," hurling challenges of all kinds at their wrestlers, but have not been able to get any of the outfit in the ring.

On January 31, 1921, Plestina's manager signed a contract with Tex Rickard to meet any man Rickard picked, no one barred and no holds barred, match to take place inside of sixty days in Madison Square Garden, winner to take all.

Tex Rickard wired Lewis, Stanislaus Zybszko and Stecher, offering a purse of $25,000 for a match between any one of them and Plestina.

In addition to this Rickard agreed to offer a belt emblematic of the world's wrestling championship. All of these men passed up the offer of Rickard.

But the refusal of the big three to meet Plestina left them in a bad fix and something desperate had to be done to head off the rough criticism hurled at them from all sides.

Rough Match in New York.

To head it off, some goat or other had to be found, and getting hold of a wonderful young wrestler from the west they sent him against Plestina with orders to rough and tumble and scratch the eyes out and cripple him in any way possible.

The scheme worked quite nicely, for, when Plestina came out of it all, he was nearly stone blind and his two eyes were nearly gouged out of his head.

It took Plestina months to recover his eyesight.

The New York commission disqualified and put the young westerner out of commission in New York state. But what did the wrestling trust care for that? He had served them as a goat and that was all they cared for.

But fully convinced that none of the so-called champion wrestlers would ever meet his man in an even match Plestina's manager posted $1,000 with the Brooklyn Eagle of Brooklyn, N. Y., offering to forfeit that amount if Plestina failed to throw any wrestler in the world two pin falls in ninety minutes, asking especially that Lewis be secured to meet him, and all of Plestina's share of the gate to be given to the American Legion. The offer has never been accepted.

On the other hand, efforts have been made to belittle the strength and skill of Plestina as a wrestler. But that will hardly work.

Plestina is really a capable and well-trained wrestler. He not only resembles the late Frank Gotch, the old king wrestler of them all, but he was Gotch's wrestling partner for nearly three years, which also will explain why he wrestles in much the same manner as did Gotch.

Plestina is a Jugoslav, and represents the most powerful athletic type of his race. He stands six feet in height and weighs, stripped and trained to the minute, 215 pounds. He is 31 years old, is married, and has four children, three girls and one boy. He has been in America over fifteen years and is an American citizen. He is without a doubt one of the most perfect athletes in the world today.

After traveling with Gotch for three years, Plestina was told by Gotch to go to "Farmer Burns and train until Burns told him that he was in shape and ready to wrestle all comers."

"Do this," said Gotch, "and no man will be able to defeat you."

Plestina did as he was told. He went to the great Burns and trained faithfully for twenty-two months. When he left Burns he was perhaps the greatest wrestler in the world.

Plestina makes his home in Chicago and there are Chicagoans who think so well of him that they will back him for any amount against any wrestler in the world.

But for some strange reason these men who claim Plestina is not the goods refuse to meet him and make good their claim that he is a foeman not worthy of their steel.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 5.

The stock market today reacted occasionally to further profit taking and short selling. Oils proved most vulnerable, especially the high priced issues. Sales approximated 1,100,000 shares.

Further strength of oils, especially the domestic division, and the heaviness of shippings, accounted for their regular tone of the stock market at the opening of today's session. Houstin Oil rose almost 2 points in the first few transactions, but a large fractional gain for Standard Oil of New Jersey was balanced by a similar decline in the Californit issue. Mercantile Marine, common and preferred, were under pressure as a result of official statements which discouraged prospects of early dividend resumption. May Department Stores reached 1% on the failure of the directors to declare more than the regular common dividend.

Local utilities were again strong, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Consolidated Gas making 1-point gains.

The desire to take profits caused further heaviness during the first hour, trading for that period being relatively light. Before noon, however, prices rallied, high grade oils, the shippings and Chain Store issues cancelling their losses. Junior oils notably Pacific, Union, Sinclair and Indian Refining rose 1 to 1½ points. Chemicals and fertilizers gained much ground, as did textiles and rubbers. Recent favorites, especially Baldwin, American Woolen and Famous Players, also hardened. Gains among rails were moderate and limited to New York Central, New Haven, Pittsburgh & West Virginia and Pure Marquette. Call money opened at 4¼ per cent.

Growing speculative operations for the long account, largely in shares not ordinarily very active, featured the later dealings. Purchases were also on a large scale in some of the recognized leaders, especially Studebaker. Lower money rates and higher sterling contributed to favorable sentiment Maxwell and Pierce Arrow Motors, Electric Storage Battery, Postum Cereal, Lorillard, Manhattan, Consolidated Gas and Columbia Gas were bid up 1 to 3 points.

Selling of oils led by Standard Oils of New Jersey and California occurred in the final hour, but this was neutralized by purchases of high grade rails. Call money eased to 3½ per cent. The closing was irregular.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 5.

WHEAT—Announcement that measures were being taken to provide temporary emergency storage facilities on railroad tracks here led to downturns in the price of wheat today during the early trading. Scattered selling of May took place and found support lacking. A decline in quotations at Liverpool ascribed to an increase of the Argentine exportable surplus counted also as a bearish factory. Deliveries of wheat here this morning on May contracts were 120,000 bushels and there were receipts here of 125 carloads of wheat. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ¾c slower with May $1.42@1.42¾ and July $2.26½@1.26¾, was followed by a slight rally and then a material drop all around.

Subsequently, the market was affected by favorable crop advices from the southwest and by reports that a single elevator company at Kansas City was loading out 700,000 bushels of wheat for Chicago and that Omaha was sending 600,000 bushels. On the other hand, vessels started loading 500,000 bushels of wheat here for the east. The close was heavy 1¾@2¼c net lower, with May $1.39½@1.39⅝, and July $1.24½@1.25.

CORN—Corn and oats were easier with wheat, corn starting unchanged to ¼c lower, July 65¾@65¾c, and later undergoing a slight general setback.

Country offerings of corn to arrive were somewhat larger and field work was reported as making excellent progress. The close was weak, ¾@⅞c to 1¼@1⅝c net lower, with July 64⅞ to 64⅞@65c.

OATS—Oats after opening unchanged to ¼c lower, July 40¼c, held fairly steady at about the initial range.

PROVISIONS—Higher quotations on hogs helped to strengthen the provision market.

Later, the market broke sharply on account of realizing sales. Foreigners were credited with buying futures early.

First Airplane of Army Fleet Reaches Lincoln

The first airplane from Post Field, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, flying cross country to Lincoln with one stop, arrived at the South Lincoln flying field shortly after 1 o'clock Friday. The other nineteen ships were somewhat behind, but all were expected to land by :40 p. m. A representative group of citizens were at the field to welcome the aviators, headed by Mrs. Samuel McKelvie, Miss Mae Pershing, Mrs. D. M. Butler, President Bailey and Aviation Committee Chairman Raymond Farquhar of the Chamber of Commerce. Plans of entertainment were arranged subject to the visiting officers' approval, to include a smoker Friday night, a sight seeing trip over the city Saturday morning, and perhaps a formation flight Saturday afternoon. The aviators will also be guests at the Farmers Fair at the state farm and a dance arranged in their honor Saturday evening, at which all army officers stationed here and ex-fliers will be guests. The forty aviators will leave the local flying field for the return flight Sunday morning.

Dillon to Attend Health Conference Held at Washington

Chief I. H. Dillon of the state health bureau will go to Washington for the annual conference of state health officials May 15. and 16, and another conference with officials of the United States public health service, following it. The two meetings will cover a period of four days.

Addresses, discussions and demonstrations in regard to public health measures and sanitation, control of contagious maladies, stamping out venereal diseases, child hygeine, and the new Sheppard-Towner law for federal aid in maternity cases will occupy most of the time. Chief Dillon expects to secure a good deal of valuable information to aid the work in Nebraska.

Beginning July 1, federal aid will again be given to the different states in their campaigns for the suppression of venereal disease. Nebraska will receive from the Washington government about $8,000 to be used in that way during the next fiscal year.

Better Times Are Here, Speakers Tell Lincoln Kiwanians

There has been a decided improvement in the financial condition of Nebraska farmers during the past few months, together with an accompanying improvement in spirits not only of the farmers but of men in all businesses. T. A. Leadley of the Nebraska Farmer staff told the Kiwanians at their weekly meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Friday noon. Moisture arrived in time to save the winter wheat crop, which relieved the farmers of a big worry. Mr. Leadley noted that freight rates will have to come down, more liberal lines of credit extended and a fairer basis of exchange arranged before the farmers will let up on their "non-buying" policy.

C. B. Towle, of Curtis, Towle and Paine, said the manufacturers were in as bad sheep as anyone, due to the fact that they had increased their overhead and stocks during the boom period and got caught in the slump. He blamed a great deal of the present depression on the selling of stock in manufacturing concerns at a high discount, a practice which he said should be severely discouraged. The outlook for the future is good, he said, with legitimate business enterprises beginning to earn, a small profit.

E. L. Smith of Magee's said that the retailer would always get the blame for high prices because they are the last link in the chain to the consumer. He asserted that every effort is being made by the retailers to reduce prices so that the volumn of business will return. eBtter conditions have been very appreciable since the first of the year, he said.

Indictment of an Attorney Demanded

CHICAGO, May 5—Demand for the indictment of William A. Bither, attorney for the Chicago Board of Education, was made to the grand jury this afternoon by Ernest S. Hodges, of the state's attorney's staff.

The request of the indictments followed the transfer of land adjoining the Wendell Phillips high school to the board of education for $95,000.

Shortly after Hodges went before the grand jury it was reported that Bither and H. W. Kaup, a building wrecker, were indicted on two counts each, charging conspiracy and larceny and embezzlement.

SHATTERS RECORD.

Friday is likely to set a heat record for the present season, Director G. A. Loveland of the government weather bureau predicted. The temperature stood at 85 degrees at 2 p. m. and prediction was made that it would rise to near 90 degrees. This is more than 20 degrees above normal. The normal temperature for May 5, according to Mr. oLveland is 68 degrees. On May 3, the temperature reached the 86 degree mark which was also a record mark.

Missouri Pacific Asks for Decrease in Tax Valuation

Claiming that its property in Nebraska was assessed last year $1,700,000 too much, and that it operated in this state during 1921 on a deficit of $448,000, the Missouri Pacific railroad submitted a request to the state board of equalization Friday morning to have its valuation lowered.

Assistant Tax Commission T. S. Reed of St. Louis appeared on behalf of the Missouri Pacific and delivered its plea in the form of a typewritten manuscript. He complained that the road's 1921 taxes in Nebraska were 21 per cent greater than the preceding year, and 82 per cent over 1916.

Any further increase was protested on the ground that it would be practically confiscatory. Nebraska already assesses Missouri Pacific mileage on a higher basis than Missouri, Kansas and other states, said Mr. Reed.

The road's valuation in this state last year was $12,806,341, and its taxes amounted to $195,729, or $536 per mile.

Physician Tells of Miners' March in West Virginia

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., May 5.—Dr. L. F. Milliken of Philadelphia was the first witness heard today in the case of William Blizzard, an officer of the United Mine Workers, indicted for treason.

Dr. Milliken testified that before the state police and a crowd clashed on Beech Fork, between 100 and 500 armed men marched into Blair from the direction of Madison. This clash, the defense contends, caused a resumption of the march.

The doctor said that he saw the bodies of three men who had been killed and that he treated three others for wounds. One of the men, he added, was killed at a mining camp as the result of an accident. A union miner named Kittle told him, Dr. Milliken said, that the fighting was the beginning of an industrial revolution which might last from five to twenty-five years.

ALL COMMUNITY CENTER PROGRAM

Season's Work Closes With Entertainment at High School.

Proceeds Go to Pay for New Clinton Community House.

The fourth annual all-community center program given in the high school auditorium Thursday evening to close the community center season had an attendance that filled the main floor of the auditorium. The proceeds this year will be turned over to the Clinton community to help pay for the new community house according to the wishes of the directors of all the center.

Each center contributed a number to the program. Clinton community presented a very clever skit, "The Flapper," written in verse by Mrs. Roy Richards of the Clinton community and presented by six young people. The dance, the automobile, the show and the community center were presented in succession to the flapper, who was represented by Miss Ruth VanSickle attired in the nifty fashion of nice flappers. When she found that the community center could offer everything offered by the others and health in addition she choose it.

A group of young men from Miss Eleanora Miller's class of young colored people at McKinley school gave a serious dramatization of "The Prodigal Son."

The complete program was as follows:

"Gym" stunts—McKinley, boys, W. H. Browne, leader, McKinley center.

Story of "Epaminondas"—Marie Schuldeis, primary, Hayward center.

Chorus from "Princes Chrysanthemum"—Tri Sigma club, Park center.

Folk games—Girls club, Hayward center.

Selections — Whittier community band, E. S. Fisher, leader, Whittier center.

Folk dances in costume—Irish Jig, Sailor's Hornpipe, Irish Lilt—Business Girls' club, Miss Bertha Lambert, leader, Bancroft center.

Dramatization "The Prodigal Son"—Boys from class of Miss Eleanora Miller, McKinley center.

"The Flapper"—written by Mrs. Roy Richards, Lincoln—directed by Miss Marguerite Polk, Clinton center.

Whittier community orchestra, Miss Chesta Fisher, leader, Whittier center.

The cast for "The Flapper" was: Dance, Rose Meyers; automobile, Francis Brochu; show, Sanford Tapley; community center, Robert Maxwell; guardian, Morris Sharp; the flapper, Ruth VanSickle.

Legal Sharks Differ, But Candidates Pay

Two legal assistants in Attorney General Davis's office are disagreed on a question referred to that department by the secretary of state, as to whether or not primary candidates for state university regent should pay the $10 filing fee required of those running for other state offices. Up to this time, no opinion has been given.

In the meantime, however, all four of the candidates for university regents who are in the field, or their friends, has decided to get on the safe side by paying the fee.

Jail Three as Suspects in a Brutal Murder

WACO, Tex., May 5.—Two white men and a negro were arrested today in connection with the brutal slaying of Eula Ousley, 17, whose body was found with the throat cut, the skull crushed and mutilated by thirty stab wounds eight miles west of Mexia late yesterday.

The girl had been criminally assaulted while returning from school and then killed, authorities stated.

The arrests followed an all night search by hundreds of men.

MID-VICTORIAN EXHIBIT OPENS

Visitors Wear Hoop Skirts and Garments of Half Century Ago.

Program Saturday Night — Proceeds to Go to Fund for Russian Relief.

The mid - Victorian exhibit was opened Thursday evening in the art gallery of the state university library building. The admission fee will be given to the fund for Russian famine relief. The gallery will not open Friday but there will be an interesting program Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. It will include Russian dancing in costume by Miro Marek, an Irish reel by Miss Pearl Svenson, dancing by pupils of Miss Donna Gustin and entertainment by the university dramatic department.

Thursday evening many of the visitors wore costumes of the 1850-1890 period—hoop skirts with bustles and heavy ruffles and tucks or quilted.

The program included a reading and dance by little Marjorie Corrington, who wore hoops and long pantalets. Miss Eulala Winters sang two songs popular many years ago, accompanied on the harp by Miss Marjorie Shanafelt. George W. Roy gave an exhibition of his dancing dolls. The university orchestra contributed several numbers.

Exhibition of Relics.

The exhibits of relics is surprising in its variety. A coffin plate taken from the casket of Chancellor Avery's great, great grandfather is one of the unusual pieces. There was a time when such plates were hung on the parlor wall, after they had done service on the casket.

There is a dress and bib made by Mrs. F. M. Woods and worn by Helen Woods Haecker and Fannie Woods Grainger. There are two hand made silver spoons

Ruth and Wife on Way to Recovery

NEW YORK, May 5.—Babe Ruth, the Yankees' home run king and his wife both passed a comfortable night and were greatly improved, it was said today at the hospital, where they yesterday underwent operations—Babe for the removal of his tonsils and adnoids, and Mrs. Ruth for a serious intestinal trouble. Both were cheerful and the Bambino's first words upon awakening were a request that he be wheeled into his wife's room.

GOLF BOOM AT ANTELOPE CLUB

Season at Municipal Links Starts With Fine Growth in Membership.

The formal opening of the new 18-hole Antelope Park golf course will be held May 20. The Antelope club players have challenged the Lincoln Country club to a match on the opening day and two players from each club will compete as a part of the afternoon program.

A sharp increase in golf interest has been manifested among the people of Lincoln. Last year the membership of the Antelope Golf club at the beginning of the season was 100. Hale Clark, Antelope "pro," announced Friday that the club membership had been increased to 175 and it was expected to have 300 enrolled before the end of the month.

A handicap tournament will be another feature of the opening card. Hale Clark is busy making out the players' handicaps now and an interesting meet is expected.

Clark Sets New Record.

Hale Clark set a new record for the 18-hole course Thursday afternoon when, in a threesome with U. G. Powell and Lee Burroughs, he made the course in 67 strokes, which is par. Powell went around in 76, one under bogey and Burroughs made the course in 77, bogey.

Clark's record shows five birdies and but three holes above par. The card of the three players follows.

PREMIER BOXERS IN GARDEN SCRAP

Tendler and Dundee Clash Tonight in Glove Battle of Fifteen Rounds.

NEW YORK, May 5.—One of the most important lightweight bouts of the year will be decided here tonight when Lew Tendler and Johnny Dundee, leading contenders for Benny Leonard's title, meet in a fifteen-round bout at Madison Square Garden. It will be a bout between a speedy man and a puncher, with the chances favoring the former unless Tendler can score a knockout.

Tendler will be out to win in a hurry, as a knockout over Dundee will assure him of a championship bout with Leonard.

STIFF CONTEST IN STATE MEET

DeWitt High Must Prepare for Keen Competition in Cinder Carnival.

DeWitt high school, winner of cinder laurels in 1921, will find a stiff fight in group one at the state high school track meet booke for Lincoln May 13. Last spring the DeWitt athletes bagged top honors in the group by amassing a total of 38½ points. Clay Center second with 34½ points.

This year Clay Center again looms on the horizon as a leading contender. Coach Haylett's lads are seasoned performers and gave Hastings high a tight rub in a quadrangular meet a short time ago.

But there are others—Callaway has some good athletes and is planning to make a good showing. Bartley, headed by Teter, who is reported to be breaking the record in the shot put, should come in strong.

Rhodes Makes Ansley Strong.

Then there is Ansley and Berwyn. Ansley has "Choppy" Rhodes, a whole track team in himself. Berwyn was a close second in the class B competition in the Custer county meet. The Berwyn lads, however, will miss Nightingale, crack miler, who is in school at Broken Bow this year.

When the relay race had been completed in the last meet, the group one score sheet read as follows.

Clay Center	34 points
Bartley	22 points

Ansley	11½ points

ROW BREAKS OUT IN "BIG THREE"

Princeton Hints it Has Been Handed Double-Cross by Harvard and Yale.

BY DAVID J. WALSH.

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, May 5.—Coming as a bit of backwash from the athletic controversy now simmering among Harvard, Yale and Princeton is the news of a broil at Princeton between the alumni and the faculty for the control of athletics.

The first intimation of the split is contained in a letter from William H. Deyo, 1916, of Anniston, Ala., published in the Princeton Alumni Weekly today. Among other things, Mr. Deyo says that Howard McClennahan, dean of the college, took action that was wholly arbitrary and uncalled for in barring certain athletes recently because they accepted loans in order to defray their collegiate expenses.

Take Verbal Poke at Dean.

This violates a rule of the Harvard-Yale-Princeton agreement and the Deyo letter asserts that it was distorted by the dean "to a point where honest athletes were made to feel like criminals."

Deyo demands some reforms in the control of athletics at Princeton.

Princeton men apparently looked for reciprocations from Harvard and Yale and were somewhat shocked when both raised a virtuous eyebrow and said that they were doing very nicely.

Since then there have been nasty allusions to the lack of athletic honesty among certain members of Harvard and Yale varsity teams, some of these going beyond the present day outfits to the extent of insinuating that Eddie Casey, former all-American back at Harvard, was paid a salary for playing football there.

LEWIS CONFIDENT OF BEATING CARP

Britisher Expects to Take Frenchman to Trimming in London Ring.

BY TED ("KID") LEWIS.

(Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.)

LEWIS' TRAINING CAMP, HARROW-ON-HILL, England, May 5.—I never aim for anything I can't hit, and my fight with Georges Carpentier has been the aim of my life.

I am certain I can hit Carpentier hard enough to beat him and I will, too.

Georges says that a good big fighter is better than a good little fighter, and I reply, with ample evidence at my disposal, that the time is past when good little fighters are always beaten by good big fighters.

Carpentier is the best fighter at any weight in Europe. He is quick and plucky and has excellent knowledge of ring craft. His right hand punch is deadly—but he has only a right hand punch.

Claims Title in U. S.

Carpentier can rightly claim the light-heavyweight championship of Europe. I think I can claim the light-heavyweight championship of America by virtue of the fact that I defeated Boy McCormick, who had beaten Levinsky when he was undisputably light-heavyweight champion of America.

Carpentier will weigh in at 164 pounds. At the most, I will weigh 154 pounds. Therefore, there will be only ten pounds difference between us, which is negligible. I am confident that, after next Thursday night's fight, I will be the world's light-heavyweight champion. I will watch Georges' right hand, but he wants to watch both of mine.

After a great uphill battle, the Cardinals pulled out an 8 to 7 victory over the Reds, with most of the scoring being confined to the final inning.

TURKS HEAP MORE OUTRAGES ON THE ARMENIAN PEOPLE

Moslems Growing Constantly Bolder and Deport American Relief Workers.

Only Prompt Action Can Prevent Final Act Against the Christians.

(Associated Press.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 5. — Four American relief workers have arrived here after having been deported from Kharput, Turkish Armenia, fifty miles northwest of Diarbekr. They are F. B. Yowell of Washington, D. C., director of the Kharput unit; Dr. Mark L. Ward of Newton Centre, Mass., chief surgeon; Dr. Ruth Parmalee of Boston, medical director, and Miss Isabel Harley of Pawtucket, R. I.

Mr. Yowell, in a statement issued, charged the Turks with unjust and unfriendly treatment of Americans and cruelties and outrages against Christians in Asia Minor.

"The American deportations were the culmination of a long series of unfriendly acts," he said. "They are the prelude to fresh Turkish outrages against Christians in Asia Minor. The Turks, encouraged by the vacillations of the allies during the post-armistice period, are getting bolder in their intolerance against the minorities. Unless outside interference is forthcoming the final chapter in the history of Christians will shortly be completed.

The Armenians in this district are in a state of virtual slavery. They are not permitted to travel within the country and I have had to return $75,000 to people in America who forwarded it to pay the traveling expenses of relatives desiring to leave the country. All the property of Armenians, victims of deportations, is confiscated by the Turks. The Armenians are denied the use of the courts.

"Christian women are forced into harems without the right of appeal to any tribunal.

"The condition of the Greeks is worse than that of the Armenians. The sufferings of the Greeks deported from the districts behind the battle front continues and of the 30,000 who left Sivas, 5,000 died before reaching Kharput. One American worker saw 1,500 dead on the road to Kharput.

2,000 Die During Winter.

Two thousand died in Kharput during the winter and 3,000 died on the roads east of Kharput.

"The deported people were aided at the American corn stations located along the road from Sivas to Diarbekr. In the Kharput district relief was given in opposition to the Turks. Two-thirds of the deported Greeks were women and children. Turks were permitted to select women and girls along the roads.

"If American aid is withdrawn the survivors will perish. The bodies strewn along the route are consumed by dogs, wolves and vultures. The Turks are not burying the dead. Neither are the deported people permitted to do so. The chief causes of death are starvation, dysentery and typhus.

"The Turkish authorities frankly state their deliberate intention to let all the Greeks die. Their actions support these statements. Presently fresh deportations and outrages will be starting in all parts of Anatola from the northern seaports to the southern and southeastern districts.

"I have no personal prejudice against any religious belief. I have refused to be involved in any political controversy. Therefore, my statement is impartial.

"I had been director at Kharput since October. I was arrested March 5, for reasons unknown, and deported from the country. I preceded my three assistants, who were notified that unless they left the country voluntarily they would be forcibly deported.

"All the twenty American in Kharput have been treated by the Turkish officials with the utmost discourtesy and injustice, notwithstanding their work has been extended to the Moslems. Patients were admitted to the hospitals if the Turks wanted them admitted; many Christian refugees, terribly ill, were turned away to die outside the gates. The hospital base was closed by the military without explanation."

Board of Directors Adopt Resolution

A resolution of sympathy and regret at the passing of A. S. Raymond, one of the Chamber of Commerce's oldest members, was passed by the board of directors. The resolution follows:

Whereas, Through the death of Mr. A. S. Raymond, the Chamber of Commerce has lost an esteemed and one of its oldest and most valued members and Lincoln one who has ever borne his citizenship as a mantle of honor, and

Whereas, His passing takes from Lincoln a pioneer who measured his years by the constructive work that he accomplished, standing always for those things that were most worth while, most generous and most substantial, and

Whereas, The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, deeply conscious of the irreparable loss which has befallen it and the city of Lincoln, desires to honor and perpetuate his memory,

Therefore be it resolved, That the board of directors bespeak for the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce its sorrow at the same time recording the pride which it feels at having numbered A. S. Raymond among its its membership, and that it express the sympathy of the Chamber of Commerce to his family and business associates, and

Be it further resolved, That these resolutions be made part of the records of the Chamber of Commerce and that a copy be sent to his family.

OIL CONCERNS IN SUPREMACY FIGHT

British and American Companies Lock Horns Over Russ Concessions.

Thought Lloyd-George Will Be Able to Smooth Ruffled Feathers.

(International News Service.)

LONDON, May 5. — Behind the maneuvers of the gigantic oil interests which are agitating the British foreign office today, a great battle is being waged by British and American concerns for world supremacy in the petroleum industry.

Officials of the foreign office said that the Standard may have made rep protest from America regarding the reported compact between the Royal Dutch and Shell companies with the Moscow government for Russian oil concessions, but they had heard that such a protest was being forwarded from Washington.

It was declare the foreign office has no knowledge of the reported oil agreement.

Despite denials the report that the Royal Dutch and Shell group had gained a monopoly in Russian petroleum continued in effect. It is known that the Standard Oil company has been after Russian concessions, these negotiations having been in progress for some time.

It is reported in unofficial quarters that British government attaches believe that the Paris reports of the British oil compact have stirred the Standard Oil company to action and that the Standard my hve made representations to the American state department on the subject.

Already America has sent notes to Great Britain protesting against the exclusion of American oil companies from mandated territory, especially Mesopotamia, where the British secured rich oil concessions.

Great Britain executed a clever maneuver by transforming Mesopotamia into an independent kingdom under the protection of the British. Britain's oil policy towards the United States is said to have been friendly and it is believed that Premier Lloyd-George would not allow the Royal Dutch and Shell companies to sign any agreement which might endanger the cordial relations now existing between London and Washington.

The whole world is the battle field for the contending giants that are seeking fresh oil territory to take the places of fields that are becoming exhausted. It includes Russia, Persia, Turkey, Rumania, China and some of the smaller eastern states, as well as Mexico.

CONGRATULATES POLAND.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Harding today addressed a telegram to Marshal Pilsudski, chief of state of Poland, felicitating him on the anniversary of the independence of Poland.

PAGEANT-PLAY ON AG CAMPUS

First Open Air Event of Its Kind to Be Given Twice Saturday.

Costumes Were Made by Designing Division of the College.

The first open air pageant-play ever staged on the Ag campus will take place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock between the Home Economics building and Agriculture hall.

Against the background of beautiful green shrubbery and spring flowers, the rainbow tinted costumes of the girls who will take part, will have a most charming effect. All of the costumes, wands and wreaths used in the pageant were designed by the designing division of the home economics department, and were made by the clothes division. Pale blues, yellows, greens, rose shades and apricot are used in the costumes, and the same colors are carried out in the wands and wreaths.

The pageant is to be given in three acts. The first act shows the royal court of King Rudolph many years ago. The fairies come to participate in the christening feast of the baby Princess. The wicked fairy comes, too, and curses the Princess with an early death, but the good fairy changes this to a deep sleep of one hundred years.

The second act shows a hidden race in the kingdom several years later. The little Princess comes upon an old woman spinning. She touches the spinning wheel, pricks her finger and falls over in a faint. The king and queen, the couriers and ladies in waiting, the entire court is mourning for the little Princess when the good fairy comes and enchants the court with a hundred years sleep.

Act III shows the exterior of the enchanted palace one hundred years later. A young prince has become separated from his hunting companions and comes into the vicinity of the enchanted palace. The peasants tell him the story of the court, but he will not believe it and pushes his way through the thorny hedge which opens to let him pass. He finds the enchanted court, and discovers the sleeping princess. As he lifts the veil from her face, she wakes to greet him with joy and love.

The closing scene is the celebration by the peasants and fairies in a happy dance.

The music and dancing in the pageant are both splendid. The principals are the princess, prince, king and queen, good fairy, bad fairy, and a number of chorus groups of fairies, peasants, couriers and ladies in waiting.

The pageant is to be repeated at seven o'clock in the evening for the benefit of those who will not be able to see it in the afternoon.

The race is a part of bicycle week conducted by the Lincoln dealers.
